Agencies concealed on future

(Press-Record News Staff)

An active image-building effort has been launched by the Tri-Cities Area United Way, which has become the focus of increasing media interest in recent months in response to undercurrents of dissension.

The image-building is taking place publicly. Behind the scenes, meanwhile, many special get-togethers and dialogues are being held—including this week—to patch up differences. But a broad, definitive, general meeting on the subject is not planned at this time.

Conversations with a number of persons have provided at least a partial view of what has been happening last year and this year.

There is widespread talk of discord and a "power struggle." Some claim that a new approach is "getting us a lot of services for the dollar"; critics say that both services and dollars are in jeopardy.

The steady drumbeat of the publicity effort apparently has sought to counteract two possibly related problems: withering of relationships with agencies, and last year's fund campaign shortfall. There also is concern for the next drive, in view of growing community unemployment and strike prospects.

Closely linked to the topic of public relations have been the two conflicting trends: 1. A proliferation of flowery self-congratulatory but often hard-to-understand news releases, accompanied by numerous photos of widely-smiling faces. 2. An unsmiling attitude toward some agency personnel and toward those seeking to understand and remedy causes of friction. "Sarcastic and authoritarian" conduct is alleged, not involving lay leaders.

Little if anything is being said by the UW about what some agencies see as bruising, unjustified treatment toward them. The agencies also have said little, not wanting to "bite the hand that (partly) feeds them."

On the positive side, considerable headway has been made over the years in simplifying, modernizing and meshing local human service programs. A widely-backed, streamlining effort that was envisioned and initiated long ago by the United Way and member agencies. But not everything being done in the guise of progress is an improvement or an economy, agencies contend.

Something is said to be gnawing away at the vitals of the normally-present, intangible aura of good will and mutual confidence—the kind of aura necessary for 1980s attainments comparable to the cooperative achievements of the 1970s.

With perhaps only minuscule exceptions, what ails the TCALUW is not being blamed on laymen associated with the United Way. (However, some critics are worried about "inbreeding," the repeated use of a small, seldom-changing number of powerful laymen in varying roles and tasks, "wearing one hat one time and another hat the next time.")

Nor are the service agencies being faulted by most observers for any lack of constructive cooperation or willingness to adjust to changing times. Opposite perceptions of what has been happening—and conflicts stemming from those perceptions—are generally being attributed not to the people themselves who are involved, but to the differing information on which they base their thinking, comments and actions.

In many cases, flat statements have been made about procedures that supposedly were followed; but respected individuals "in the know" about various agencies say events simply did not happen as described. Insufficient records exist to throw adequate light on some of the contrasting recollections.

Some full-time agency personnel have been ignored, and scorned as "peons," with someone going over their heads to confer with agency volunteers. Such volunteers have other jobs and may not be as familiar with day-to-day agency policies and operations as are the managers, critics of such unilateral procedural revisions say.

In other cases, agency personnel say, they have been ordered to change their methods by non-agency personnel who later contend, "I didn't say that, and you can't prove that I did."

There has been a drift away from written communications and from widely-disseminated records and "ground rules" easily available to the public.

Some queries from the public for clarification have gone unanswered. Board and committee roster copies even have been denied to contributors on some occasions, they assert.

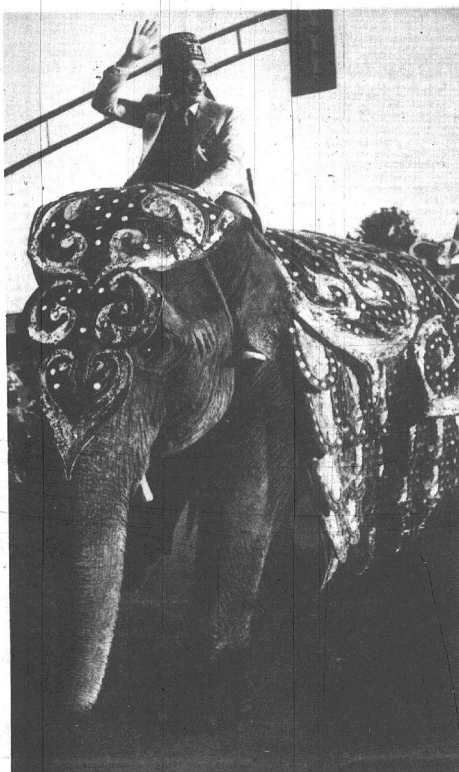

Without going into all the precise instances that they describe, agencies have been denied to contributors some components and governing levels—officers, boards, committees and paid staffs—have been dealt with in changing, unexpected, unpredictable and, therefore, disturbing ways.

Timing of contacts back and forth, including deadline notifications, also has been altered in confusing ways, agencies say.

The ease with which needed communications and transactions take place has been described in glowing terms by laymen, who then defend them; but participants say many communications, in fact, are fraught with uncertainties and inefficiencies. Fear also has arisen in some UW-agency contacts. Comments have included, "It's a bad situation. Something has got to be done. But I can't do it on my own, so don't quote me by name."

As part of the pattern of turning inward, with "the less evidence the

Home owners can check market value

A new program will enable Granite City property owners to check the recorded market value of their residences.

Assessor Von Dee Cruse said today that home owners will be encouraged to visit his office on the ground floor of the City Hall, Niedringhaus and Edison avenues, during regular office hours, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The program will start Monday, June 16, and continue for four weeks, until Friday, July 11.

Residents of the entire township of Granite City may visit the office and learn what market value has been set for their dwelling, Cruse said.

Market value will be emphasized because that is the basic figure that the assessor is required to determine or estimate; he explained.

The ingredients that help indicate market value, including the size of the home and the type of construction, were noted on the assessment records and reviewed with residents of various neighborhoods this spring.

Now that this task has been completed as part of the Granite City reassessment activities, the net result has been determined and can be reviewed by all neighborhoods simultaneously during the next four weeks.

Cruse said the market value figures are for the 1980 assessment year and thus are related to 1981 collections, percentages (of market value) and multipliers. No specific assessment figures can be determined at this time, but only the market value of each home, he added. Tax collections planned this summer are for the 1979 tax year.

The assessor traditionally points out to the public that he has no jurisdiction

Chapman will speak in China

Lawyers and physicians of the People's Republic of China are conducting a seminar in legal and medical phases of the law, with several prominent United States attorneys assisting with the Pittsburgh Institute of Legal Medicine invited to attend and participate.

Among those attending will be local attorney Morris B. Chapman, who will attend and address the seminar on problems related to medical malpractice allegations.

The Chinese professionals have been seeking increasing cooperation and consultation with their colleagues from the west. This will be the first seminar of its type ever conducted in China.

Seminars will be held in various cities in the Republic, including Peking and Canton. Government officials will meet and consult with the participants during the three-week period of the seminars.

Attorney Chapman has been active in malpractice litigation since his most recent prominence. He has served on various national groups to assist in correlating specific approaches.

Chapman believes that "much of modern medical malpractice litigation is a result of lack of acquaintance with the patient."

Nor is his final decision on property value. The county can correct valuation errors and also can set township multipliers, such as the 15.81 percent it added to Granite City property for this summer's collections.

And the state can set county multipliers, although usually this is 1.00 (no multiplier) for Madison County.

Chapman said.

"Too many patients are treated as numbers and scarcely seen by the physician—not relegated to the nurse or a paramedic."

"Illustrative of this is a recent incident in a St. Clair County hospital where two patients were mistakenly given the operation procedure required by the other."

"Operating physicians need to recognize and have independent knowledge of a patient," Chapman said.

"Alienation of a patient in a doctor's office or in a hospital is reflective of the fact that more concern for knowledge of the patient is paramount."

Area weather outlook

Late tax bills cause borrowing

By RICK PEARSON

The problem of tax revenues returning late to local governments has surfaced in Nameoki Township. The township approved Monday night the issuance of $40,000 in tax anticipation warrants.

Harold Davis, township supervisor, said the township may not be receiving tax revenues until "late, late in the year."

"I'm afraid we're going to have to borrow, borrow and borrow until we get it," Davis told the township board.

Davis said the decision to issue the tax anticipation warrants was due to the fact that the county may not issue tax bills to residents until August.

A spokesman in the county's tax department said Tuesday that property values had not yet been figured and that tax rates would not be made available until after July 1.

Robert holder, administrative aide for the township, said Tuesday he was unsure as to the amount of interest the township will be charged for the issuance of the warrants.

Holder did say, however, that the interest is usually lower than the market rate offered by banks.

In other actions, the board: —Authorized Davis to sign an application for a grant to purchase a senior citizen van. In a short meeting before the regular township meeting, the township's senior citizen's advisory committee had recommended the grant application be approved by the board.

—Was notified by Holder and Davis that federal money set aside for drainage problems in Eagle Park may be used for a township-wide study on drainage. Holder told some residents of Eagle Park that engineering costs for

State's attorney plans GC office

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas Byron is not denying that political considerations played a part in his hiring of attorney Richard "Dick" Allen of Granite City as an assistant state's attorney, but he is stressing that he feels Allen will be a qualified assistant and will do a good job operating a satellite state's attorney's office in Granite City.

Byron announced the hiring Wednesday, although Allen began his duties June 1. In Wednesday's statement, Byron indicated he may support Allen for state's attorney in four years.

Allen opposed Byron in this April's Democratic primary election and Byron won only by a narrow margin.

Byron tallied 8,808 votes while Allen had 8,441 and William Haine of Aton garnered 8,294 votes in the three-way race. Allen was the clear leader in Quad-City area balloting.

Byron, who quips, "They don't call me 'Landslide Nick' for nothing," said, "Dick made a remarkable showing in Granite City in the election, showing me that the people there know and trust him."

"That is one reason I feel he is a good choice to be our state's attorney in the general election."

"After the primary election, I talked to Dick and he said he would back me in the general election."

"I think that during the race, his

Minibike crackdown

Parents are being warned that they may be charged, as well as their children, if their unlicensed children are riding minibikes in the city.

Granite City police are initiating a "crack-down" on juveniles riding the minibikes in the city, particularly on Metro-East Sanitary District property, including the Nameoki Ditch. Unlicensed driving of any type of such vehicle is illegal except on private property, with the owner's permission.

The police have received numerous complaints of juveniles riding the minibikes and trail bikes, causing excessive noise and creating a danger to themselves and others nearby.

A spokesman for the police department warned that parents share the responsibility for their children's activities and parents allowing their children to ride minibikes can be arrested.

"As part of the crackdown, we intend to charge the children with operating a motor vehicle without a license and charge the parents with allowing an unlicensed person to drive."

"We also plan to have the minibikes towed to a holding area and the parents will have to pay towing charges," the spokesman said.

The sanitary district also may charge youths riding on the levee or drainage ditch property with criminal trespass to property, he noted. Children having bikes with improper or no mufflers also will be charged with that violation, he pledged.

The crackdown is to begin immediately.

Flag Day, celebrated each June 14, honors the creation of the Stars and Stripes as the official flag of the United States.

In this country's historical calendar, Flag Day is one of the most important dates of the year. However, the birthday of the flag did not become an official national holiday until President Harry S. Truman signed a proclamation in August 1949.

The history of Flag Day begins during the American Revolution. In the early stages of the war, the young nation had no official standard and many groups had expressed the desire for a flag as a means of identification.

The Continental Congress adopted the design of the Stars and Stripes on June 14, 1777, resolving that "the flag of the United States shall be 13 stripes, alternate red and white, with a union of 13 stars of white on a blue field, representing a new constellation."

Though Congress had adopted the basic design, flagmakers were free to add their own artistic touches. The flag

Search continues for suspect in shooting

Granite City police still are searching for a 25-year-old West Granite City man who allegedly was involved in the stabbing and shooting of Tommy Sloan, 26, of the 2900 block of Denver St., during disturbances at Victor's Tavern, West 20th Street and Illinois Avenue, May 16.

Sloan was stabbed three times during a fight on the sidewalk and later was shot three times in the back from a passing car, according to his mother, Mrs. Mildred Adams. He is recuperating following surgery, she said.

Also injured during the disturbances were Jeffery L. Clifford, 22, of the 2100 block of Illinois Ave., and Charles Tilson, 48, of the 1700 block of Olive St.

Clifford was shot in the upper hip and left shoulder area. Tilson suffered a five-inch cut to his lower lip and a four-inch cut from the bridge of his nose down his right cheek. All three were admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center after the incident.

Connie E. Farley, 22, of 646 Margaret Ave., Mitchell, has been charged with two counts of aggravated battery in connection with the shots fired from the passing car. Her bond was set at $5,000 cash, but Circuit Judge Victor J. Mosole later reduced her bond to $2,010 cash and she was released after posting that amount.

Police believe that a fight first developed inside the tavern and that participants were told to leave. During a subsequent fight on the sidewalk, knives were used, evidence indicates.

The man who still is being sought left the area with Mrs. Farley, it is alleged, returning in a car after obtaining a gun. As the car passed the tavern, numerous shots were fired at those on the sidewalk, witnesses said. In addition to the five bullets which struck Sloan and Clifford, at least one other bullet struck an outside wall of the tavern, police said.

Officers have been searching since the incident for the man said to have been in the auto from which the shots allegedly were fired.

Playground centers start Monday in GC

The Granite City Park District's summer program will start Monday, June 16, at six playground centers. Children in grades two through six may register on the first day at the center nearest their home.

Playground centers will be located at Webster, Wilson, Niedringhaus, Nameoki and Logan grade schools and the Park District Community Center.

Youngsters may attend daily sessions Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Nancy Polson will direct the summer program which will feature storytelling, outings, contests and crafts over a seven-week period.

May propose federal sexual abuse centers

Pam Klein, coordinator of the Rape and Sexual Abuse Care Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, was invited to attend a two-day conference sponsored by the National Center for the Prevention and Control of Rape in Washington, D.C.

A branch of the National Institute of Mental Health within the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the National Center is currently exploring federal funding guidelines for service-related abuse centers to be designated as demonstration projects throughout the U.S.

The SIUE Rape and Sexual Abuse Care Center serves Madison and St. Clair counties, processing cases from the region relating to rape, incest, or battered spouses. It has been in operation three years.

The local coordinator is president of the National Coalition Against Sexual Assault.

Arrest youth on conduct charge

Doyle L. Miller Jr., 17, of 2407 E. 24th St., was arrested following a disturbance at his home at 12:15 a.m. Tuesday in which he allegedly chased a girlfriend around the house with a butcher knife.

Police were told that Miller was acting in a disorderly manner and was threatening persons in the house with violence. He obtained a butcher knife from the kitchen, threatened to cut himself and then chased his girlfriend with the knife, family members alleged.

When a police car arrived, he allegedly fled out the back door. A short time later, he allegedly returned to the house and when an officer approached him, he fled from the front porch through several yards, until he was caught in a back yard in the middle of the 2400 block of East 24th Street.

He was charged with disorderly conduct. An outstanding traffic warrant also was served on him at the Granite City Police Building.

GARDENING FUNDAMENTALS.

Susie Bausch explained many of the basics of gardening during a "Spotlight on Landscaping" class held at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Rev. Prater is ordained

The Rev. Paul Prater, a former Granite City resident, was ordained by the Southern Illinois Conference of the United Methodist Church at its annual meeting at McKendree College, Lebanon, Ill.

He is a son of the late Paul E. Prater and Mrs. Rosemary Prater, former Granite City residents.

He attended Granite City High School South, and Kansas State University where he received honors for academic excellence, and St. Paul's School of Theology, Kansas City, Mo.

The Rev. Prater presently is serving the Calhoun United Methodist Church, Calhoun, Mo.

Former resident has fourth child

Mr. and Mrs. Manfred Driesner of Highland became the parents of their fourth child, a daughter, born June 6 at Oliver C. Anderson Hospital, Maryville.

They have named the new arrival, Katrin Marlina. She weighed seven pounds, 14 ounces.

The mother will be remembered as the former Linda Whitten of Granite City.

The couple's older children are Kristina, Stefan and Kurt. The maternal grandparents are Howard Whitten of Granite City and the late Hermann Driesner are the paternal grandparents.

Landscaping is explained

Making your garden or lawn grow may seem difficult to some people, but St. Elizabeth Medical Center associates were shown how simple it can be during an "in-service" session entitled "Spotlight on Landscaping."

The in-service was part of a continuing program which offers employees courses on subjects they can use at work and home.

Susie Bausch, an associate of SEMC and a student of landscaping, explained how people can plan their lawns to meet the needs of their family.

The first step in landscaping is to make an inventory and evaluation of the property, structures and family requirements. Several plans can be drawn with different ideas, using the resources available, she said.

Mrs. Bausch compared landscaping to decorating a room; the front lawn should complement the home, not hide it, she said. The back lawn can be used as an extension of family living space, and landscaped with the family's recreational needs in mind.

Trees and plants can be chosen on the basis of the amount of time needed to care for them, and should be planted with room for future growth, the speaker said.

Mrs. Bausch explained several ideas for caring for lawns, such as watering the lawn or garden in the morning instead of at night to prevent the growth of fungus which may damage the roots of plants.

Levee repair cost $657,520

The cost of replacing the levee along the Cahokia Canal east of Route 203 and just south of Granite City has been estimated at $657,520, officials of the Metro-East Sanitary District reported at a meeting Tuesday morning.

The estimate was based on an engineering survey ordered by sanitary district trustees after it was learned that much of the Cahokia Canal levee had been removed without the knowledge of district officials during the past six months.

The district alleged the dirt was removed by workers of SCA Services which used the dirt as cover in a landfill the firm operates in the area between Horseshee Lake and Interstate 70. Several meetings have been held between district officials and representatives of SCA to discuss the removal and the replacement cost.

The survey, made by Hurst-Rosche Engineers of Hillsboro, Ill., said that approximately 48,540 cubic yards of dirt were removed from the levee covering 10.6 acres. This total was increased by 30 percent from shrinkage and compaction, resulting in a replacement total of 63,102 cubic yards of dirt.

Walter "Shang" Greathouse, Granite City, a member of the sanitary district board, said the engineers placed the estimated dirt replacement cost at $10 per cubic yard, a total of $631,020 for the damaged area.

In addition, the engineers said it will cost $2,500 per acre for reseeded and landscaping, or a total of $26,500 for the 10.6-acre area from which dirt has been removed.

This brings to $657,520 the total amount of actual damages, Greathouse said. "I personally feel this estimate is a bit low, but we are proceeding on this basis," the board member said.

Greathouse said that the information by the engineering firm, photographs and other material will be assembled and reviewed by attorneys for the sanitary district before it is decided whether a settlement will be sought or a suit for damages is to be filed in circuit court.

The levee in many sections along the canal has been cut away to grade level, eliminating any protection against heavy water in the canal if heavy rains should occur, officials reported.

Board members also decided in Tuesday's meeting to discontinue paying an easement fee to the Southern Railroad for water pipes that extend along the East St. Louis riverfront.

For many years the district has been paying a $24 per year easement fee for the water pipes that run underground along the riverfront, but an inspection of records has produced no documents to indicate why the district is paying the fee.

Trustees instructed the district clerk to notify the railroad that the district no longer will pay the fee and that the trustees feel the American Water Co. should be responsible for the easement cost.

Board members also deferred action on a request by the Alton & Southern Railroad for an easement to build a new bridge near the control works on the Cahokia Canal. Board action was delayed pending further discussion of cost factors.

Port to call rail line bids

Plans and specifications for a new "interconnect" rail line at the Tri-City Regional Port on the Granite City Riverfront were approved Monday evening by the port authority board in a resolution that also authorized an immediate call for bids.

Carl Ranft, port manager, said bids are expected to be called within the next week. In a related action, board members approved the extension of a sublease to the Illinois Terminal Railroad of rail facilities at the Army installation which are leased by the port authority as part of its railroad yards. The sublease to ITR is made on a year to year basis.

The board also received a report updating plans for construction of a second rail yard of approximately 44 acres at an estimated cost of $1.1 million. The commissioners were informed that contracts for operation of the new yard, which also will be leased to Illinois

Terminal, are nearing completion.

Officials said the construction planning should be completed for a bid call about mid-July.

The port authority hopes to buy about 30 acres from the ITR and about 14 acres from A.O. Smith Corp. and then build the rail yard near the plant. It will be owned by the Port and leased to the Illinois Terminal.

If industrial revenue bonds are issued, the total may be increased to $1.9 million to include several other projects, officials said.

Part of the rail yard planning and engineering work is being done by Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab, Granite City engineering firm, and some of the related planning work is being done by Port Engineer George Andres.

Ranft said the proposed "interconnect" line would be built to run parallel to the harbor and connect with trackage that serves Granite

City Steel and the Granite City Terminal. He said this would speed up switching operations and permit movements that otherwise might be hampered by an accident.

That line is estimated to cost $40,000 to $60,000, the Port manager said. The board also authorized Oliver Schneider & Co., auditing firm to make the annual audit for the Port. Also approved was a plan to lease two office facilities in the Charles Martin building where the present tenant has more space than it now needs.

It also granted a request for authorization to send Trade Zone Manager Oscar Naeseta to the Trade Zone Convention at Disneyland, Fla., Sept. 21.

Venice delays action on school bus cutoff

A scheduled discussion by the Venice District 3 Board of Education on a proposal to discontinue bus transportation for students in the city of Venice was postponed by the board Monday night because two board members were absent.

Decision to delay the discussion until all board members are present followed presentation of a petition by Earl Hogan, a former School Board member, opposing the discontinuance of the service.

School Superintendent Robert Vickers said about 125 elementary and high school students would be affected by the change, which would save the district an estimated $3,000 to $4,000 per year, including the average cost of equipment replacements.

Absent at the regular board meeting Monday were Jack Tolliver and John Mangiaracino.

The board authorized Supt. Vickers to prepare the annual school budget for the 1980-81 school year. Vickers said he expects to present a tentative budget for public posting in the July 28 board meeting.

Bids for supplies and cafeteria items were authorized and the board members approved the hiring of James Harmon as a summer custodial replacement for Edna Houltz who is recuperating after surgery.

Vickers reported that negotiations with Venice teachers has begun, but that no projected salary schedules have yet been presented. The teachers' agreement expires at the end of this month.

The board agreed to retain the C.J. Schlosser auditing firm of Alton to make the district's annual audit.

Lincoln Place mothers elect

The Lincoln Place Mothers' Club met last week at the Community Center with 15 members and one guest, Mrs. Anna Kuzma, present. The meeting was brought to order by President Irene Goede with a pledge to the flag. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Secretary Lennie Lore. The treasurer's report was given by Virginia Kittle.

Election of officers was held and those elected to remain in office are: Irene Goede as president; Josephine Vangel as vice-president; Virginia Kittle as treasurer; and Rose Schmitt as publicity chairman. Rose Merchoff was elected as secretary for the next two years.

Three birthdays were celebrated with each honoree receiving a gift. The honorees are Rose Grimm, Rose Merchoff and Virginia Sever. Refreshments were served and games were played. Prizes were won by Mary Andria, Virginia Kittle, Rhanan Mateosian, Verna Michel, Rose Schmitt, Josephine Vangel and Anna Velloff.

Members were minded to bring two cakes for the LAC celebration on July 13. There will be no meetings held in July or August.

TAVERN BURGLARY

The Red Bull Tavern, 1112 State St., Madison, was discovered at 9:25 a.m. Monday to have been burglarized. A forced entry was made. An undetermined amount of change was taken from the cigarette machine and juke box.

Bartender charged

Timothy A. Woodrome, 20, of 634 Lincoln Ave., Venice, was released at 1:30 a.m. Tuesday by Madison police on a notice to appear in court June 27 to answer a charge of battery.

Larry Gann, a fishing guide from Florida, allegedly went into the Packem Inn Tavern, 12th Street and Greenwood Avenue, where Woodrome was tending bar in his father's tavern.

Gann alleged he was verbally abused by several persons in the tavern and after being struck ran out of the tavern, got into a car, and was chased by the men. Woodrome told police a regular customer and Gann got into a fight.

He allegedly told police that that anytime a regular customer becomes involved in a fight with a stranger, the stranger is thrown out.

Woodrome refused to name any other persons involved. Gann reportedly was accused of being a "narc" (undercover narcotics agent) by some of the tavern patrons, according to authorities.

Industrial bonds sold

The Madison City Council at its meeting Wednesday night approved the sale of $650,000 in industrial revenue bonds to the Mark Twain Northland Bank.

The bonds were sold for the industrial development of the Krieger Truck Service, Inc.

Krieger is moving its East St. Louis terminal to Madison, and will be located at Washington and Collinsville avenues near the railroad tracks.

Kreider handles bulk foods which will be loaded onto trucks from railroad cars.

The new building will face Collinsville Avenue and the trucking terminal will occupy 10 acres of land.

Bids were opened for a railroad spur in the Maers Industrial Park to serve Southwestern Steel Co.

A question arose on one of the bids as all bids were referred to the purchasing committee and legal department for review.

The railroad spur will be paid for by Southwestern Steel Co. and will cost approximately $200,000.

Warmack was admitted to SEMC at 1 a.m. today and English was admitted at 12:45 a.m. today.

Acting on a telephone call at 12:30 a.m., Madison police went to the lower level of the Bastille Lounge, 1316 Madison Ave., Madison, where the two were reported found.

The two men allegedly shot each other, but no motive as to the cause has been established.

Two ambulances were called to the scene.

Madison Chief of Police Don Bridick reported that two .38 caliber revolvers were found at the scene.

According to a spokesman for the Madison County Sheriff's Department the shooting may be connected with the shooting Monday of Richard Wilkerson in the 2600 block of Logan Avenue.

Theresa Davis, the driver, and Glenda Davis, 42, both of 2220 E. 20th St., were taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where they were released after treatment.

Funeral held for Hufstetler infant

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in Granite City for seven weeks old, who died at 11:40 p.m. Monday, June 2, in Japan. Parents are Airman first class and Mrs. John (Nancy Liddell) Hufstetler, formerly of Granite City.

The infant was born April 15 at a military hospital at the Yokota Air Base. He underwent heart surgery Saturday, May 31, at a hospital near Tokyo.

Two days after the surgery, he suffered kidney failure and then succumbed to the heart ailment.

The father was assigned to Yokota about 18 months ago. The mother was in Japan for the past 12 months.

Surviving besides his parents are a sister, Naomi Hufstetler, two years old, maternal grandparents, Mrs. Betty Fassel of Granite City and Fay Liddell Jr. of Madison.

The paternal grandmother, Mrs. Norma Hufstetler of Alto; and maternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fay Liddell Sr. of Columbia, Mo., and Arthur Fassel of Perryville, Mo. Grandfather Gerald Fassel and Frank H. Hufstetler Jr. are deceased.

Six years in prison

Aubrey Reynolds, 27, East St. Louis, who was about to be retried on aggravated kidnapping and armed violence charges, has pleaded guilty to one count of armed violence in Madison County Circuit Court and has been sentenced by Circuit Judge Victor J. Mosele to serve six years in prison.

Three counts of aggravated kidnapping were dismissed. Reynolds was charged with forcing a 15-year-old girl into his pickup truck across from Kirkpatrick Homes May 12 while he was holding a knife.

An alert policeman nearby noticed the sudden disappearance of the girl from the telephone booth she had been using and followed the truck, which was stopped and the girl was found, allegedly being held at gunpoint.

A mistrial was declared in April as Reynolds' defense attorney pointed out that Madison County Assistant State's Attorney Stephen Mudge failed to produce testimony that the knife used in the case was at least three inches long, the minimum length required by law for an aggravated kidnapping charge.

Mudge responded by gesturing toward the knife, which was in plain view, but the judge ruled in favor of the defense and declared a mistrial.

The judge later agreed to dismiss the aggravated kidnapping charge from the May 28 case in return for Reynolds guilty plea to armed violence in a Jan. 6 incident, according to court records.

Gymnastics start Monday

Participants may register at 9 a.m. Monday at the Namekiki center.

FIRE AT TAVERN

A cigarette thrown onto the sidewalk outside Jacobsmeier's Tavern, 2401 Edwards St., during the weekend, rolled up against the building and started a fire which caused an estimated $200 damage. Granite City firemen were on the scene 30 minutes.

GC office

option of the way my office functions changed as I became more aware that many of the issues being stressed had no validity.

"He also told me at the Democratic convention that he was sure I had been seeking someone for Granite City warrant officer, so I talked to him about working for me. He expressed an interest but he indicated he wanted to run again for state's attorney in the next four years.

"I believe that anyone who is going to run for state's attorney should have experience in the office. I do not plan to seek re-election again in four years, as I have said before, so I am going to help Dick get the experience.

"If I am fortunate enough to get re-elected this November, I presume Dick will stay with me the entire four years. Then, if he wants to run for the job, I will support him, or any other member of my staff.

"Even after a bitter primary, Democrats tend to mend the differences. We are all Democrats now," Byron said.

He told the Press-Record he wants Allen to get used to the procedures and operations of the office before opening the satellite office in Granite City. He also plans to ask Allen to attend some seminars and a week-long training session on prosecution.

"Dick has a lot of experience in criminal law, but mostly as a defense attorney. Our position now is to give him a prosecutor's orientation," Byron said.

When the training is completed, Byron indicated, Allen will open a satellite office of the state's attorney in Granite City.

The first satellite warrant office to be opened by Byron will be in Alto in the next two weeks, when Larry Keshner assumes the responsibility of issuing felony warrants from that office.

"These will be the routine day-to-day felony cases which do not need the advice of the main office. I still want the complicated career criminal cases to continue to be handled in Edwardsville, through the career criminal office, but the satellites will assist the main office in those cases, too," Byron said.

He currently is preparing a job description for a Quad-City area warrant officer and expects that office to be open in several weeks.

Byron said he decided to hire Allen on his own, not at the recommendation of Madison County Democratic Central Committee Chairman Christ Costoff or other politicians.

"There was no consultation, outside of the members of my staff and some police personnel to determine if there would be a good reception for Dick," he said, adding that Costoff and Allen have had their differences in the past.

"I try to keep political considerations in my office at a minimum. I have hired many Republicans as well as Democrats. Christ Costoff has never asked me to hire anyone, other than to say that if I needed some office girls or someone, he would make a recommendation."

Commenting further on the possibility of his backing Allen for state's attorney in four years, Byron said the future is hard to predict. He noted that his Republican opponent in this year's general election, Don Weber, once was an assistant state's attorney and promised he would never run against Byron. "I guess he just disagreed with my stand on conflict of interest and felt he has to run against me," Byron concluded.

Throughout the 19th Century, American explorers and adventurers, such as Lewis and Clark, flew their own variations of the Stars and Stripes. And though it was the official national flag, U.S. Army land forces did not carry it until 1834. It was not authorized as a military standard until 1867.

The first recorded recognition of the birthday of the Stars and Stripes was in 1885 by a Wisconsin schoolteacher.

Various organizations began celebrating the birthday soon after. The Betsy Ross Association, the Sons of the Revolution and the Pennsylvania Dames were among the organizations who began celebrations in the 1890s of the flag's birth.

In 1897, the state of New York declared June 14 a state holiday. June 14 took on national significance in 1907 when the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks designated the date as Flag Day.

The Elks were the first fraternal organization in the nation to mandate observance of Flag Day by its entire national order. A special ceremony also created that still is conducted.

Agencies concerned

better," minutes have not been mailed, or offered to those absent from certain meetings, and written texts and lists have been produced in sharply limited quantities.

A former "open door" policy on basic public information, the kind of reports that would not infringe on client confidentiality, no longer appears to exist. The most recent annual report omitted some of the types of information included in past years.

Current developments include: —An agency whose funding has been curtailed hopes to arrange a meeting between agencies and the UW to clarify uncertainties and pinpoint what is proposed regarding agencies' future roles and funding. It says the meeting is needed because of growing doubts that have developed. It adds, "You can't get much in writing from them, and we often don't understand their verbal explanations," voiced privately in small discussions.

—Another agency has discussed problems said to be occurring in various parts of the nation— "difficulties, harassments and attempted domination" of programs and policies, leading to splintering of some financial drives.

—More than one local agency says it has begun exploring the feasibility of "going its own way" financially. —An agency board member suggested in a board meeting that a discussion be sought to shed light on problems; an agency officer responded by saying this has been attempted and suggested to the UW "with no response."

—When funds were denied for a part-time employee, an agency was told to instead utilize a federally-paid youth, even though the particular task, by its nature, required extensive familiarity and acquaintanceship with the local adult population.

—Permission was granted by a UW layman to "pursue" all items requested in our new goods proposal, "described as an unusual way for an agency to have to obtain such financial authorization. The layman is said to be doing his best to "bail out the leaking boat," but is finding that such special remedial efforts are taking a large amount of time. Other laymen also have been pressed into long hours of duty defining, clarifying and seeking agreement.

Budget funding was blocked for an agency vehicle despite its age, heavy use and state of disrepair. A charitable donation of a replacement vehicle had to be arranged by the agency.

The Press-Record said editorially Jan. 7, "The past year for the TCAUW included many positive aspects but also some unexpected twists and turns. Perhaps the new year being launched with Thursday's annual meeting of contributors can restore a measure of equilibrium."

"The year started with the unexpected elimination from the normal officer succession of an individual whose attitude and accomplishments had earned him UW 'superstar' status not banishment. An official later said the individual hadn't wanted to be considered for advancement, but in fact the individual wasn't consulted.

"Procedures were altered without specific authorization to do so. The alteration narrowed the base of United Way leadership and sharply reduced the amount of planning and decision-making that was subject to formal discussion and ratification votes. The scope of minutes, approvals and broad-based coordination was sharply curtailed."

"Contacts with agencies were altered, and often varied. The lack of procedural consistency caused confusion and seemed to result in less agency autonomy and increased centralization, agencies said."

"Justification could be cited for some movement toward greater central control. Obvious cost and service benefits were attained through a range of multi-agency cooperative ventures. Other progressive steps were taken. And undoubtedly, all who were involved were motivated by high ideals and what degree of misunderstanding and concern has led some to contend there has been too much administrative manipulation and not enough open dealings."

"If somebody didn't want there to be a seventh successive over-the-top campaign, one way to assure it might be to raise the basic goal by over 36 percent in one big bite. We don't think this was the reason, we think the big jump was well-intentioned."

"But the figure wasn't determined in the same way as in previous years, there was an avoidance of contact with 'older and wiser heads.' In any case, the goal was raised by over 36 percent without benefit of such consultation, and the series of drive successes ended at six."

"While negative trends have been cited in this commentary along with a sound basis for Quad-Cityans to 'walk tall,' they can appropriately feel pride in what they have done—on their own initiative and collectively—to help their fellow workers and residents."

"A record $666,458 was raised this fall, including $210,000 from the Granite City Steel Labor-Management Torch Club. A record distribution of $683,873 is planned during 1980."

"Much was accomplished during the 1979 by the Tri-Cities Area United Way, fully justifying public confidence in it during the 1980s if it accentuates the positive objectives and momentum that began developing during the middle and late '70s."

"The United Way truly consists of 'people helping people' in a selfless, coordinated, efficient manner. And it seems to work best when the people of the local community are taken fully into its confidence."

"There was an instance a few years back when a partially behind-the-scenes power play that could have proven detrimental to the community was attempted. It should not be repeated, and Quad-Cityans will worry less about such a possibility if the UW's doors are left open, widely, to the public."

"The editorial was questioned by some—in its reference to the individual being 'chopped off' the line of officer succession—as perhaps involving a bit of "sour grapes." Actually, there were additional individuals trimmed off before and after the instance cited, leading to a sharper "break with the past" and less continuity, than not, might result from the inevitable, healthy turnover in leadership."

The mention of "older and wiser heads" referred to the abrupt loss of accumulated experience, and also to the narrowing of the usual ten-member executive board discussions during the 1970s to informal talks between a smaller number of individuals."

No executive board meetings appear to have been held during 1979 after the annual meeting of contributors took place in January 1979. Such meetings are said to have resumed in 1980, but at a less frequent pace than in past years."

During the more than a year without guidance between quarterly UW board meetings except for the administrative staff, these or informal small ad-hoc administrative and laymen discussions at which, if any minutes were taken, no records of them were provided to contributors."

Troubleshot administrative and laymen teams are now said to be a frequent device, seeking to "put out fires (figuratively speaking)" that keep starting around the community."

The point of the "older and wiser" comment, a Press-Record spokesman said, was not to claim that the caliber of involved laymen had been lowered, but that fewer persons took part, representing a smaller cross-section of the community, with less formalized agendas and less record-keeping of who expressed which viewpoint and why."

Agencies have complained of being told, "The board wants you to do this," or that "the board wouldn't allow that."

Actually, the size of the full UW board and the quarterly nature of its regular meeting schedule precludes most in-depth discussions, giving considerable between-meetings power to others (when they exercise it) to predict what the board might favor or oppose."

The extent of specific information reaching the public through the media—not counting UW-written press releases—was assailed publicly by a lay official early this year. The lay official told contributors that a supposedly "merry Christmas" Dec. 24 article, "$683,000 allocated to area agencies," should not have been published."

News media said at the time they hadn't been aware the lay official had wanted the previous week's allocation list withheld. They pointed out that the Christmas Eve timing for public dissemination was the latest for such information in many years."

He did not say specifically why he opposed the information being divulged, but some interpreted his stand as not wanting the public to know that some forms of "non-seasonal, short-term, non-recurring direct financial aid" to persons in need were being removed from the traditional agencies and operated through a single, centralized office."

In any case, the annual allocations are a big factor in each agency's operational decisions during the calendar year beginning Jan. 1, and under past practice no announcement had been made at least several weeks prior to New Year's."

Sheriff's evidence sale set for June 21

The Madison County Sheriff's Department unclaimed evidence auction, which was to have been held June 7, will be held Saturday, June 21, at 10:30 a.m. it was announced this week.

The event had to be postponed without warning when the demolition of a building next to the old jail caused plaster to collapse inside the jail, where the auction was to be held.

An emergency transfer of the prisoners from the old jail to the new county jail was made, due to fear the old jail could collapse, a spokesman said.

Several Quad-City area residents drove to Edwardsville for the event June 7, only to be told by deputies that a new date would have to be set.

Among the items to go on the auction block are about 30 bicycles, eight CB radios, five tape players, three FM radios, an FM converter, a boat, two boat motors, a tent, jewelry, instant cameras, motorcycle helmets, calculators, typewriters and stands, tool boxes and tools, chain and power saws, drills, a tape recorder and numerous other items.

The items have been recovered after burglaries, thefts and other crimes, but have never been claimed by their proper owners, who have until the time of the sale to claim the items by showing proof of ownership.

Terms of the June 21 auction are cash on the day of the sale. Homer Henke, a county board member and professional auctioneer, will conduct the auction.

Injured driver ticketed

Glendal Jackson, 20, of 3601 Kirkpatrick Homes, suffered a head injury and back pains when his auto left the roadway in the 1400 block of Madison Avenue at 4:40 p.m. Monday.

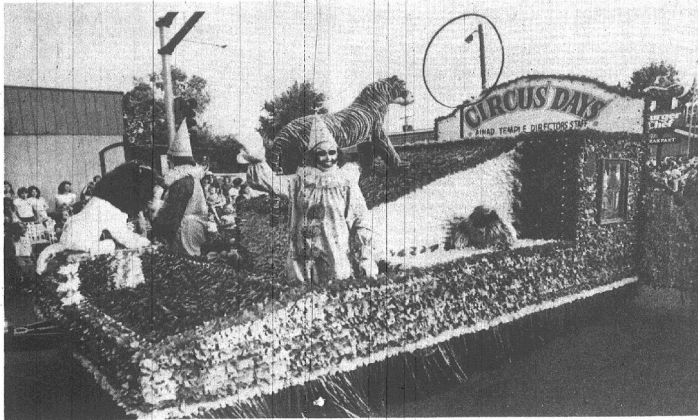

Witnesses alleged Jackson's auto was southbound on Madison Avenue at high speed when it came upon cars stopped for a train in the crossing. Jackson's car skidded out of control, jumped the curb in front of 1420 Madison Ave., knocked down two street signs and then backed into the street and left the scene north on Madison Avenue, witnesses alleged.

The car was found abandoned at a restaurant at 1504 Madison Ave., and witnesses said a man fled on foot south on Iowa Street and jumped onto the moving train.

Madison police aided Granite City officers in checking the train and a Madison officer took Jackson into custody.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was examined and was transferred to Christian Northeast Hospital.

Tickets were issued charging Jackson with reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

Problem with 6 mushroom brands

At least four lots of No. 10 (institutional size) cans of mushrooms, packed by the Emil Lerch Company of Hatfield, PA, may be contaminated with type B botulism, according to William L. Kempiners, acting director of the Illinois Department of Public Health.

Kempiners said that, according to the federal Food and Drug Administration (FDA), there is a possibility that all No. 10 cans of mushrooms packed by the Lerch Co. since February 1977 may be contaminated.

The mushrooms are distributed in Illinois by at least four distributors under at least six brand names. The distributors are: Walter's Food Distributors, New Berlin, Wis.; B.A. Raitlon Co., North Lake, Ill.; Ron Dinella Foods, Rockford, Ill.; and AA-1 Distributors, Elk Grove Village, Ill.

The brand names are Eventide, Raitlon, Chef's Finest, Elizabeth Park, H-10 Star and Friends Golden Glow.

The Lerch Co. has issued a voluntary recall, through its distributors, of all No. 10 cans of mushrooms.

Kempiners advised that anyone who has any of these products should not use the mushrooms, but return the cans to the distributor.

"Anyone who has No. 10-size cans of mushrooms and is not certain of the brand should contact the FDA Office in Chicago," Kempiners said.

No cases of illness associated with these mushrooms have been reported in Illinois.

The contamination was discovered when several bulging cans of the mushrooms were turned over to the FDA for laboratory analysis.

Public to help pick GC library books

The Granite City Public Library, 2001 Delmar Ave., is inviting all interested persons in the community to participate in its third Public's Choice Program.

In this program, the public has an opportunity to become part of the library's book selection process.

In cooperation with a major publisher, the library has on loan over 50 new books dealing with self-help and self-improvement topics.

Included are books on controlling stress, managing time, physical fitness, self-therapy, old-fashioned or unconventional health remedies, and many other subjects.

At the display area in the library are ballots that list all of the titles on display. By using these ballots, patrons can cast their votes for the books that, in their opinion, have merit for the library's collection.

The voting will determine which books the library purchases.

The book display will be at the main library downtown Monday, June 16 through Saturday, June 28.

Amvets Post 51, Auxiliary install

Installation ceremonies were conducted during the weekend for Harold K. Scherbert and Glenda C. Burnett, who were installed as commander and president, respectively, of Amvets Post 51 and Auxiliary.

About 75 persons witnessed the event held at the Post Home, 5100 Lakeview Drive.

Serving as the installing officers were Jackie Petras, a past state president of the Amvets Auxiliary, and Leo Clements, past regional commander.

New Amvets officers who will serve with Siebert in 1980-81 are:

Tait C. Varner, first vice-commander; David I. Clements, second vice-commander; Nick Torregrossa, third vice-commander; William I. Schienchang, finance officer; Charles R. Wilkins, sergeant-at-arms and ways and means chairman; Jackie Petras, historian and public relations chairman; Alberta Manning, SOS chairman; and Judy Boyer, liaison officer.

Following the installation a buffet dinner was served and the evening was spent dancing to the Dick Jeffries Band.

Benefit event to honor Hospice, hairdressers

Hospice of Madison County. The bakery goods are being donated by local organizations, churches and any individual interested in making a donation of bakery goods may call the Hospice office at 788-3399. Deliveries will be accepted Saturday afternoon, June 21, at the beauty school.

Hospice is a program of home care which emphasizes physical, emotional and spiritual comfort for persons with advanced cancer, and for their family members. Emphasis is on care of physical symptoms and other problems associated with this phase of the illness, rather than cure of the disease. Priority is given to control of symptoms for the patient, and on supportive care for both patient and family members.

Visits to the home by the Hospice staff are arranged in a manner permitting flexibility, to meet the needs of individual family situations. Close telephone contact is maintained between visits. To assist in emergencies which otherwise result in hospitalization, a registered nurse is on call at all times.

Betty, the outrider

By JOHN SCULLY
Which rider at Fairmount Park is on the track every race but has never won yet? It's Betty James who, with her son, Frank, takes care of the outriding chores at Fairmount Park.

Betty leads the horses onto the track for every race. Her duties, however, are more than presiding over the post parade.

At night it is the outrider's responsibility to be on the lookout for unruly horses in the post parade. If a problem occurs, the horse and rider will then be assisted by Betty until the horse settles down.

The most dangerous task that Betty must perform is catching a horse that is running off. Trying to catch a thoroughbred going full speed, by reaching over and grabbing the reins, can prove hazardous to your health.

Many outriders have been injured by being pulled off their ponies, as a loose horse will often lunge away after his reins have been caught. The lady in red—attired in her red jacket—not only works at night but is also on duty each morning.

Betty's day starts at 6:30 a.m. as she patrols the track at workout time, looking out for rank or loose horses.

She's also available to give pointers to young exercise riders.

And when an exercise rider wishes to become a jockey, it is Betty and a senior jockey who give their approval to the stewards for the rider to be licensed.

Betty has been an outrider for six years at Fairmount Park. Her son, Frank, joined her a year ago and together they form an "excellent team," authorities say. Betty has been married to local trainer Jesse James for 30 years.

Completing this horse racing family is Phoebe, their daughter, who at times has also filled in as an outrider.

Betty and her husband, Jesse, have a farm in Mt. Vernon. During the season, however, they spend the bulk of their time at their trailer at the local track.

Besides the normal work of a housewife and mother, Betty also looks after the two ponies she uses for outriding. She is happy with her job. And it's a fact that the jockeys and exercise riders are happy that she's there when they need her.

Vacation church school at night

For the first time, Vacation Bible School will be held in the evening hours at Nameoki United Presbyterian Church.

The school will begin Monday, June 16, and continue through Thursday, June 25, with sessions taking place nightly from 6:30 to 9 o'clock.

Mrs. James (Leona) Johnesse, director, said, "We wanted to make provision for adults as well as children and by having an evening school we are trying to make this a family event."

Adults attending will be offered an opportunity to explore the differences between biblical Christianity and some of the major cults, in addition to Bible study, under the direction of the Rev. Don F. Pierson, pastor, according to Al Bagl, director of Christian Education.

Enrollment is open to the public. The church is located at 1700 Pontoon Road, where Sunday school begins at 9:30 a.m. and morning worship at 10:45 a.m. Sunday.

Disagree on serving rural areas with cable television

By ROB REHG
The Madison County Board legislative committee today will try to settle differences it has with two cable television companies regarding a proposed franchise agreement for servicing unincorporated areas of the county. Assistant State's Attorney Mike Thompson helped the committee draft the tentative franchise agreement and said the only two companies to express interest in serving the county, Jones Intercable and South-Western Cable TV, have objected to several points in the franchise.

The companies objected, voiced during the last two committee meetings, forced the committee to delay a public hearing on the cable franchise until June 16. Thompson said both companies objected to paying a $10,000 application fee, saying there should be no charge to apply for a cable contract with the county. Both companies also objected to a $1,000 rate change fee. The franchise states that when a company announces a change in its rates, and the county decides to review the proposed rate change, the company must pay a $1,000 fee. The companies also objected, Thompson said, to a requirement that every house in unincorporated parts of the county be serviced within 10 years, and that every "street-mile" area in the county with 30 houses on it be serviced within one year. The companies said it wouldn't be economically feasible to service every home in the county in 10 years, Thompson said. The companies complained of having to service areas "out in the middle of nowhere" with 30 houses in a street-mile section. Thompson said, "They said it wouldn't be worthwhile to have to spend money to hookup an area with so few homes." The companies objected to a stipulation requiring a company to "interconnect origination and access channels of the Broadband Telecommunications Network with any or all other BTN systems in adjacent areas, upon county directive." Thompson said the county would probably not force a company to interconnect with other lines until it is economically feasible for the company. When told of Thompson's comment, a spokesman for South-Western said, "All of these things will have to be spelled out clearly before an agreement can be reached." The proposed franchise calls for a 15-year contract with the county, and states the county will charge an annual fee of three percent of the company's annual gross revenues. Legislative Committee Chairman James Heil said the committee wants a cable franchise document approved by the county board this month, and a contract awarded to one of the companies in July.

More productivity, less classes urged

The report of the Blue Ribbon Finance Committee to the Board of Trustees of Belleville Area College calls for productivity gains, increased contact with the purse-string-holding state legislature, and elimination of some courses.

The citizen panel was created by the BAC board to review its worsening financial condition.

The committee says it has "carefully examined the data and projections as presented by the administration of the college. In addition, input from faculty has been received and reviewed by committee members."

"The committee recognizes the financial problems of Belleville Area College, and offers the following suggestions to help the BAC Board of Trustees find solutions:

1. "Productivity — The board, as its first priority, must convince and be prepared to show the community that its 'house is in order.' Reasonable levels of productivity must be achieved through negotiations and through effective management.

"However, productivity levels at Belleville Area College should be compared with other Illinois community colleges and the board should be cognizant of the measurable quality of education received."

2. "Programs — The committee rejects the contention that there are 'no unnecessary programs.' All educational, support, administrative, and community service programs and costs need to be carefully and regularly examined by the board, administration and staff to be certain that student and community needs are being effectively met.

"Action should be taken to evaluate marginal programs. Non-credit (hobby-leisure) courses especially need scrutiny."

3. "Revenue — Tuition and fees should be considered a significant source of income. The board's present policy of increasing tuition each year seems to be reasonable and should be reviewed annually."

"The long-range solution to revenue needs may require a tax rate increase to be submitted for referendum, but only after all other sources of revenue and cost efficiencies have been fully explored."

"Simultaneously, the Board of Trustees should become more active politically with the General Assembly and local legislators."

"Information concerning the college, its financial problems, its programs, and its impact on the community needs to be disseminated to the legislature in a more persuasive manner."

Norfolk, Southern merger

The 7,500-mile Norfolk and Western Railway Company, headquartered in Roanoke, Va., and the 10,000-mile Southern Railway System, headquartered in Washington, D.C., will be consolidated under common ownership and control under a plan agreed to in principle by the two corporations.

The announcement was made by John P. Fishwick, president and chief executive officer of NW, and L. Stanley Crane, chairman and chief executive officer of Southern.

The plan is subject to a definitive agreement to be approved by directors of both companies, and is also subject to approval by the stockholders of both companies and by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

It provides for the establishment of a new company which would acquire the two railroads in an exchange of stock valued at $2 billion.

Holders of common shares of Southern would receive 1.9 shares in the new company for each share of existing Southern Railway common;

NW holders would receive one share in the new company for each existing share of NW common. Preferred stockholders of Southern will not be affected.

Managements of the two railroads held talks last year without reaching agreement on combining the lines. The changing competitive situation was the principal factor leading to the agreement, a spokesman said.

The new company will have 16 directors, eight to be named by Southern and eight by NW.

Norfolk and Western Railway operates a system of 7,500 miles of railroad in 14 states and the province of Ontario, Canada, extending from Norfolk, Va., to Kansas City, Missouri, and Omaha, Neb., and reaching Chicago, Detroit and Buffalo, N.Y.

In addition, the Norfolk and Western's 1,673-mile affiliate, Delaware and Hudson Railway Co., extends eastward from Buffalo.

Southern serves 13 states from Washington, D.C., and Cincinnati, Ohio, in the north; to Palatka, Fla., and New Orleans, La., in the south; and East St. Louis, Ill., and Memphis, Tenn., in the west.

Leaders of the two companies expressed "confidence in the success of the proposed merger, combining as it does two of the most successful and profitable railroads in the country."

1980 Christian Science meeting

Christian Science Church leaders declared Tuesday that "humanity can't afford a continued drift toward the morally bankrupt doctrine that material pleasures are the sole or chief good in life."

The board of directors urged members of the church to help counter such tendencies through "humbler dependence on divine guidance and deeper understanding of what Christian discipleship really means."

On hand in Boston for the annual meeting were more than 7,000 members of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, from 23 countries. The yearly gathering of Christian Scientists reaffirms the link that exists among the branch churches of the denomination.

Christian Scientists have been active in congregations here since 1915. Although The Church of Christ, Scientist, was founded in Boston in 1879, branches are located around the world today. There is one in Granite City at 2550 Delmar Avenue.

Incoming Board Chairman

Jean Stark Hebenstreit said, "The time has come for all of us to have a larger view of Christian Science and its mission. The Master brought the blessing of spiritual vision right into the midst of human need. That same spiritual vision of Jesus' day is central to our responsibilities in these times," she said.

Named president of the Mother Church for 1980-81 was a former senior editor and correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, Sayville B. Davis. He told members that "mankind is moving in new directions, doing its best to construct a world of equality and justice for every individual — a world of universal freedom and blessing."

"Our Church," said Davis, "plays a distinctive and powerful role in this transition."

If Timothy 4:17... "Notwithstanding the Lord was with me, and strengthened me."

The testimony of the Apostle Paul is without in doubt one of the greatest in the world. Here is a man so devoted to God and so devoted to his form of religion. God reveals himself to Paul on the road to Damascus and now he opposes his religion and so sees himself completely as God. In fact Paul counts all things loss that he might win Christ.

When Paul started for God he never turned back on him. He sacrificed much, he suffered much, yet remained faithful.

God rewarded Paul for his steadfastness. By Paul's own words: "The Lord was with me and strengthened me." Could we ask for more than this?

God will be with you. He will strengthen you. Make your total commitment to Him.

ELECTRONIC SAVINGS. Schnucks is reducing the prices on over 1,400 grocery, dairy and frozen food items as a result of cost savings attributed to scanning, an electronic checkout system.

1,425 prices cut

Schnuck Markets yesterday reduced the price of 1,425 grocery, dairy and frozen food items in all 51 Schnucks supermarkets.

Craig D. Schnuck, executive vice president, said, "We are reducing these prices as a result of cost savings attributable to scanning, our electronic checkout system."

"Scanning eliminates the need for price marking on most grocery, dairy and frozen food items. The price will be identified on new, larger Tela Price tags on the shelf and on the itemized register receipt tape."

"We will be saving on our product handling cost, and we are passing this savings on to the consumer. Even though we have 32 scanning installations in a total of 51 supermarkets, the savings from these 32 stores is significant enough that we can pass this on to all our customers in all of our stores."

Along with these price reductions, Schnucks is introducing its Accu-Price guarantee in all stores with scanning checkout.

Schnuck said, "The Accu-Price guarantee states that if an unmarked item is scanned at the checkout at a higher price than is shown on the Tela Price tag, the customer gets that item free. Beer, wine, liquor and tobacco products are excluded by law."

"We will have signs posted throughout the stores announcing this guarantee. We are totally confident in the accuracy of the scanning system, and we have established this guarantee to

5-year health systems plan will be topic

Milton Morris, chairman of the Madison County Local Impact Committee, Health Systems Agency, has announced that the committee will hold its monthly meeting on Tuesday, June 17, at 7 p.m. at St. Joseph's Hospital, East 5th Street, Alton.

Joe Mueller, staff member of the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency, will present an educational program concerning a five-year plan the agency has developed for hospital expansion and services. This is the fourth part of a five-part educational program concerning the five-year health systems plan of the agency.

Morris has invited Wood River Township Hospital to make a presentation concerning its hospital expansion and modernization project. This project is now before the Health Systems Agency for recommendations of approval or disapproval.

The hospital project will be reviewed by the Acute Care Task Force and Project Review Committee on Thursday, June 19, and by the HSA Executive Committee on Thursday, July 3. Morris can be contacted at 452-5333 or Mueller at 1-314-341-5810.

DRUG ARREST HERE
Rhonda K. Crouch, 17, of 2908 Kirkpatrick Homes, was arrested in the 2700 block of Buxton Avenue at 2:30 p.m. Monday by Granite City Detective Sgt. Don Knight and Detective David Ruebhauser on a warrant from the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEGS) alleging unlawful delivery of a controlled substance to an undercover MEGSI agent. She was released at 5:00 p.m. Sunday on a cash bond of $202 and a $13,000 recognizance bond.

Tennis clinic

demonstrate our confidence to our customers.

"We will also have black marking crayons available in the stores for any customer who wants to mark the price on the item as a double check."

"With scanning checkout, the consumer takes home an itemized receipt tape which gives the brand name, item description and price of the products purchased. This receipt tape gives the customer much more information than ever before possible on product purchase."

Schnuck stressed that shelf pricing will primarily affect products in the grocery department in scanning stores. "In our supermarkets we sell from 10,000 to 19,000 items, depending on the size of the store. In stores with scanning, approximately 5,700 of these items will now be shelf priced only."

"Other products, such as meat, deli and Nancy Anne bakery products, will still be traditionally priced."

A summer tennis clinic will be offered every Monday and Wednesday from June 23 through July 30 at the SIUE Bubble Gym courts for university students, faculty, staff, alumni and their spouses.

Sponsored by the SIUE co-recreation and intramural department, the six-week clinic will be offered one hour each day, from either 5 to 6 p.m. or 6 to 7 p.m., for a total of 12 instructional hours.

Instructors will include Bruce Keil, assistant women's tennis coach at SIUE, and several other members of the university's women's tennis team. Keil has been a teaching professional for six years at camp, club, city and collegiate levels.

The charge for the clinic is $9. Participants are to provide tennis shoes, racket and one can of new balls.

Interested persons may contact Keil at 692-3884 or 692-0552. Deadline for registration is June 23 at 12 noon.

Melanie Asadorian in cast of comic opera

"Bartholomew Fayre," a new comic opera based on a 17th Century English play, will be performed at SIUE Thursday, June 19.

The performance, set for 8:15 p.m. in the Communications Building theater, will feature as singers Don Studebaker as "Justice Overdo" and Karen Goellner as "Ursula the Pig-Woman." Inspired by Ben Jonson's comedy about vice and pride in London during the early 1600s, "Bartholomew Fayre" is the second collaboration of Stephen Brown, assistant professor in the School of Fine Arts and Communications, and Paul Gaston, associate professor of English language and literature.

The first attempt at working together, "But Shirley Fairweather," a musical comedy, attracted capacity university theater audiences last year.

Jonson's play describes one day in a fair held each year in August at Smithfield near London. When an ambitious but short-sighted justice-of-the-peace decides to clean the fair of its vices, he meets trouble.

"Zeal-of-the-Land Busy," a Puritan preacher, has ideas of reformation as well. The story asks for comic opera treatment, according to Gaston, who adapted Jonson's play into an operatic book and wrote the lyrics for the songs.

"The characters could hardly be more vivid, and their exploits are ones we see around us all the time," Gaston said. "Take several energetic men and women, alike in their pride and in their blindness to their own faults, and put them on a collision course in the midst of a noisy fair. Then watch what happens."

Brown, the composer, has sought to create music which can capture by its own vivid diversity the life of the fair. "A fair like this one teems with life," Brown said. "But there is always a kind of order underneath."

"People may let themselves go at a fair, but they must remain aware of the limits, suffer the consequences. Writing an opera is in some ways like going to a fair."

The 1979-80 Research Scholar Award at the university enabled the two faculty members to complete the concert performance score within 15 months. The award, given by the Graduate School, also makes possible the concert performance.

Other singers in the performance include: Gary Metz, an SIUE student, as "Nightingale;" Melanie Asadorian, a recent graduate of SIUE from Granite City, as "Trash;" Tom Collins, a St. Louis singer who has performed with the Santa Fe, Minnesota and St. Louis Opera companies, as "Littlewit."

Admission is by ticket, but complimentary tickets will be available at the door on the night of the performance or by telephoning 692-2773.

Dr. Koch decides to run

Dr. Felicia Koch, M.D., of Granite City this week announced her intention to seek the office of Madison County coroner in the November 1980 election. She said that she feels her background as a physician and surgeon would be invaluable in the discharge of her duties as coroner.

"As the practice of medicine and pathology have progressed in recent years, the need for a coroner with a medical background has become more necessary," Dr. Koch said. "I feel that my 42 years' experience as a doctor and surgeon qualify me to hold the office of coroner."

"In a county the size of Madison County, the decisions that must be reached by the coroner as to the cause of death, the time of death, possible contributing factors, and general interpretation of pathology and laboratory reports can often make the difference in legal cases resulting from the coroner's findings and decisions.

"These crucial decisions should be made by the coroner herself based on the best medical and laboratory advice available."

Dr. Koch is the mother of six children and the widow of Dr. Joseph Koch, M.D., who died in 1963. She has been a resident of Granite City for over 40 years.

Among her achievements and honors include the St. Louis area Academy of Family Physicians (1974); and the Pioneer Woman Award presented to her in 1976 by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Dr. Koch is past president of the Madison County and Tri-City Medical Societies, 1967 and 1968, respectively. She also served as Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce vice-president in 1965 and has held numerous other offices in other groups. She is a board member of the United Way and Catholic Charities and is medical director of the Colonial Haven and Colonades nursing homes, her announcement related.

Dr. Koch said she would happily accept the added responsibilities of the coroner's office. Although she has an active medical practice, she feels she has the time to devote to the coroner's office.

"I have served the community in many capacities over the years as well as the county as a whole. I feel that the coroner's office is an excellent place for me to serve the county further, and will be pleased to find the time necessary to faithfully discharge my duties."

Dr. Koch has been active in the Business and Professional Women's Club for over 30 years and participated in many charitable and educational endeavors. Dr. Edward Ragsdale, Madison County Republican chairman, said he would be delighted to have Dr. Koch on the county-wide Republican ticket. He said he is making plans to hold a county convention to nominate her for the office.

"With Don Weber as our state's attorney candidate and Dr. Koch as our candidate for coroner, the Republican Party in Madison County will have nominated two outstanding and highly qualified persons."

"With Republican alternatives such as these two, and with other highly qualified candidates both in the county and on the state and national level, it looks like the citizens are going to have a good reason to go to the polls — and are going to have a good year after they do," Dr. Ragsdale concluded.

THEFT FROM TRAILER

Seven chains and six chain binders, all worth a total of about $250, were stolen from the trailer of Jim Wells, 1539 Fourth St., Madison, parked in the parking lot of Ralph & Charlie's Restaurant in Madison during the weekend.

Endorse zoning changes

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals has given its endorsement to a request by Frank and Genevieve Mercer and D.K. Larimer, representing Longwill-Scott, Inc., to rezone land along East Chain of Rocks Road 200 feet west of the Alton & Southern railroad tracks from a B-2 general business district to an M-1 limited manufacturing district in Chouteau Township.

The board also endorsed a request by William Gathright Jr. and Rosetta Watts to rezone about one acre of land at 217 Roosevelt

St., Eagle Park Acres, from R-4 single family residential to B-1 limited business zoning for a tavern. The property straddles the borderline for Nameoki and Venice townships.

A request by Leo Glasper and Annie Mae Smith for a special use permit to place a mobile home at Allen and Terry streets in Eagle Park Acres received the endorsement of the board, with the stipulation that the home be used only by the Annie Mae Smith family for up to five years.

The recommendations will be considered by the Madison County Board during its June meeting. The county board has the authority to grant or reject the requests.

The zoning board will reschedule another hearing, which was not held, due to an error by the zoning department. R.B. Moran and Donald G. and Sandra Smith are requesting a special use permit to place a mobile home near the end of Alton Avenue, Cloverleaf Addition to Nameoki Township, for up to five years.

Appropriate amendment to transit district legislation

An amendment by State Rep. Monroe Plinn to Metro East Transit District legislation—bills that are currently being debated in Springfield—seems appropriate. It would bolster the General Assembly support for the legislation by removing from any future district boundaries those townships lacking daily bus service.

Residents of some rural townships in southern St. Clair County and eastern Madison County have objected to the transit district concept, saying they have no regular bus routes.

Some form of reasonable legislation has been called essential this spring, lest the present level of transit service be jeopardized at a time when gasoline costs are persuading more and more motorists to switch to buses when commuting to work.

The House Transportation Committee on Tuesday decided against attaching a referendum requirement. The Plinn plan seems preferable.

As it now stands, the legislation extends for six months the existing level of state financial support of bus service. And it empowers Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties to consider setting up one to three transit districts.

If a Madison County transit district is created, a decision to be made by the County Board, it could levy up to a fourth of a cent sales tax—a bargain compared to the transit taxes already levied and proposed in the Chicago suburbs.

Withholding savings interest would reduce the interest

The Treasury Department has asked Congress to pass a law requiring that 15 percent of the interest earned on individuals' savings accounts be withheld and sent to the government. Many oppose the plan and may succeed in defeating it if they voice their opinions to legislators.

In millions of instances, the tax sums involved would be inconsequential. But the proposal would establish a new array of tax documents, exemption forms, procedures and rules affecting many types of interest, dividend income and earnings from stocks and bonds.

The plan would work a special hardship on people who live on fixed incomes and who depend on interest from their savings to help meet living expenses. It also would reduce the total return on one's savings, since the saver would lose part of the compounding effect that helps an account return a higher yield.

Withholding of savings interest seems unnecessary because the Treasury's Form 1099 system—the information return sent to the saver at the end of each year by financial institutions, with a copy to the Internal Revenue Service—already gives Uncle Sam the means for checking on who they don't pay their taxes.

Rather than reducing the interest that deposits can earn, the plan needs to consider creating further incentives to build savings—savings which can provide capital and jobs for a less inflationary economic future. A step in that direction is a new law permitting exclusion of $200 from interest and dividend income ($400 for married couples) starting next year. The plan's withholding proposal currently being fought would be especially harmful to persons on fixed incomes. In this regard, we note that a new study issued yesterday by the National Council on the Aging says financial worries are clouding the future for many older Americans, forcing nearly six of 10 to live a "hand to mouth" existence, and leaving two in ten unable to cope with everyday life.

Labor for the Rights amendment

To the Editor:

I write to add my personal support in behalf of Illinois Steelworkers to a nationwide effort by labor to gain ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment in Illinois.

As the late George Meany said, ERA is a "clear, positive statement of national commitment to the principle of equality under the law for all people, recognizing the fundamental dignity and individuality of each human being."

The basic idea of the ERA is not that men and women are the same, but that men and women should be treated differently solely because of their sex.

Labor began more than a decade ago to involve women in the full spectrum of the workplace.

Since then, we have proven again and again that women with proper training and the necessary physical strength can handle jobs that no one would have dreamed them capable of just 25 years ago.

More than 46 million women are in the work force. They work as men must, to survive and for the survival of their families.

The number of mothers in the work force has increased more than tenfold since World War II. Fifty-four percent of all mothers with children under 18 years of age are in the work force, and the economic facts of their lives reveal heretofore discrimination.

Opponents of ERA never protest that a woman is worth, on the average, little more than half of a man in the work force—and that for every dollar paid to a working man, 59 cents is paid on the average to a working woman.

The Land of Lincoln has always been known as a state that stood free for equality.

It should have been the first state to ratify the ERA rather than face the prospect of being among the last.

In this area, the leadership of the United Steelworkers of America is joining with other ERA supporters in Alton, Granite City, Edwardsville, Belleville and elsewhere to send a clear message to dovish legislators—that we want the ERA ratified now.

Lawmakers will be told there is no higher priority for labor in this session of the Illinois General Assembly.

For the ERA, the clock has reached its final hour.

Festival defended

By PAT FOLEY

of the Press-Record

Wayne Nederlander representing the Nederlander Organization, present operators of the Mississippi River Festival, cleared the air about the festival's operation during a news conference Wednesday morning in Edwardsville.

Discounts of $2 for SIUE students were promised.

Nederlander read a prepared statement in an effort to correct "many misrepresentative reports" about the organization's handling of the MRF.

He began by going back several years to the early part of 1978 when the organization was selected by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to take over the operation of the festival.

The university had been plagued with financial losses at the site and was looking for an independent promoter to operate the facility without being taxed by the university.

The Nederlander Organization was one of six such promoters considered by the university for the task.

Nederlander defended the programming of the festival, which was to include "artistic diversity with considerations for quality and economic factors," according to the 11-year contract signed with the university.

He criticized some news media references to lack of diversity and said that the group did live up to that part of the contract. He cited acts in the past two seasons which included rock, country, jazz, rhythm and blues, folk, comedians and family shows.

Nederlander stated that the facility has been offered free of charge to not-for-profit groups for cultural events, but none has yet requested use of the MRF site at SIUE.

He justified the taking down of the tent prior to the 1979 season by stating that it was in the interest of comfort and the view from the lawn seating. Expansion of the reserved seating area was also necessary, he said.

"Ticket prices for this year's attractions will remain the same as the 1979 season," stated Nederlander. "In a time of inflation and recession we are trying to hold the line."

He announced there would be a $2 discount for SIUE students for lawn seating this year. In 1978, a 50-cent discount was given and for last year's performances a $1 discount was in effect.

The organization was criticized for not having a better discount for students during the past two seasons.

A formal seating plan is now being finalized and will be discussed with the university prior to its implementation. Nederlander said this is a high priority for the 1980 season.

He assured the media representatives that student employment will continue for the 1980 season. He said that during the 1979 season more than 70 percent of the workforce at the MRF site consisted of SIUE students, with the remaining employees being area residents and high school students.

Nederlander said that "as in the past, SIUE students have priority in hiring unless a student and a non-student are up for the same position and the non-student is better qualified."

"If a student and non-student have equal qualifications, the student will be hired first."

When asked about building improvements at the MRF site, Nederlander said that "as promised in 1978, architects and consultants have studied the site and taken up with the university operations personnel and performed feasibility studies. It is still not a 'dead issue' at this date."

Nederlander also stressed that the organization is living up to the contract in every way. "We're not in violation of the contract—in no way, shape or form."

This was in response to a question about allegations that the Nederlander Organization was not acting in accordance with the long-term pact.

He said a complete list of attractions for the upcoming season will not be announced, but portions of the season will be announced at various times throughout the summer months. He said this is done to ensure acts just being booked and other contracts not being finalized far in advance of the performances.

He also said the partial calendar of attractions is used as a marketing tool. He closed by saying that "the image of the university is one of concern to us, certainly, as well as our image within the community."

"I strongly feel the Mississippi River Festival is an entertainment facility which we can be proud of. Our endeavors are to make the facility one that everyone in the community can enjoy and point to with pride."

Somit will head SIUC

Albert Somit, 60, executive vice-president of the State University of New York at Buffalo, has been chosen as the 14th president of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Kenneth A. Shaw, chancellor of the SIUC system, announced the selection at a press conference Wednesday in the SIUC Student Center. Formal appointment of Somit is expected today when the university's board of trustees meets in Springfield.

Somit, a Chicago-born political scientist with 35 years' experience in university teaching and administration, will begin work in the SIUC president's office Aug. 15. He will replace Hiram H. Leshar, SIUC law school dean who has held the presidency since June of last year.

The choice of Somit ended an eight-month-long nationwide search that drew more than 80 candidates.

At the end, a 12-member presidential search committee gave Somit an outstanding record of scholarship and administrative accomplishment. He is a community leader, a faculty member by his colleagues, and a fine person. SIUC is fortunate to have attracted a person of his caliber."

In choosing Somit, senior member of the final trio, Shaw said, "He comes to SIUC with an outstanding record of scholarship and administrative accomplishment. He is a community leader, a faculty member by his colleagues, and a fine person. SIUC is fortunate to have attracted a person of his caliber."

Somit will be paid $63,500 per year and will also hold a tenured appointment as professor in SIUC's political science department. He will live in University House, SIUC's official residence.

When he appeared at SIUC April 30 for a public question and answer session as one of the final candidates, Somit stressed the need to tighten relationships between SIUC faculty, staff and administrators.

He said the university should launch a concerted effort to promote itself. "SIUC's image has not caught up with the reality of its teachers and the level of its educational programs," he said.

Dr. Somit's leadership will provide a genuine source of genuine strength for the institution," Dr. Shaw concluded.

'Excited' Ron Jones is third round NBA pick

Press-Record

Sports

GRANITE CITY (Ill.) PRESS-RECORD, Thursday, June 12, 1980—21

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Ron Jones has seen a lot. He's been and all-star on a powerful high school basketball team. He's been a player on one of the top independent NCAA Division I schools in the nation. He's been a record setter. He's put the ball in the hoop time and time again against the "big boys" of the college ranks. Southern Cal. DePaul. Through it all, he's been cool. Level-headed. Collected.

But something happened Tuesday that just may have excited Jones a bit. The 6-5 Illinois State University guard from Venice (a graduate of Madison High) was drafted by the Cleveland Cavaliers of the National Basketball Association in the third round of its annual college draft.

When he heard the news Tuesday, he was almost beside himself. "He was so excited," said his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Jones. "It was kind of funny. He was excited, but he was still cool about it. He was trying to be cool and collected."

Jones is one of the top players in Illinois State University history. He moved into the Redbirds' starting lineup the fifth game of his freshman year and has been there ever since. He holds the ISU record for all-time assists and is in the top ten of the Redbirds' all-time leading scorers. He was chosen ISU Athlete of the Year his junior and senior years by the students, picked to the All-State Collegiate team the last two seasons, and was honorable mention All-American this season. At Madison High, he was a Class A All-State selection while playing for Larry Graham's team that slated a 25-3 record. At Madison, he averaged 20.7 points per game, ten rebounds and eight assists his senior season. He also scored 19 points in the Illinois Basketball Coaches association Class A-Class AA All-Star game for the winning small school squad.

But it won't be easy for Jones. The Cavaliers, who lost standout guard Austin Carr to Dallas in the recent expansion draft, have drafted several guards and have some NBA vets on the bench who will be vying for one or two spots on the team.

The thing that impressed us about Jones was his speed," Cavaliers' Media Director Bill Needle told the Press-Record in a phone interview. "We've been watching him a couple of years now and we think he made a great deal of improvement in his overall game between his junior and senior years at Illinois State."

"He's a good scorer," said Needle. "We feel with his size, his speed and touch, that he might be able to make a contribution to the Cavs."

But there are some other pretty decent guards who hope THEY make the contributions, not Jones. Among them are Randy Smith, former all-pro Foots Walker, Willie Smith and former Marquette great Earl Tatum. The Cavaliers also drafted 6-4 guard Chad Kinch from South Carolina in the first round.

One of the most interesting facts about the draft was that also on the third round, Cleveland selected Southern Illinois University-Carbondale guard Wayne Abrams. One of the toughest battles in this summer's rookie camps could be between Jones and Abrams, who faced each other many times in college.

"It's not going to be easy," said Needle. "As a matter of fact, very few of the players in the NBA aren't first round picks. I can't give you any conclusions, but I can say that it will be hard. There'll be a lot of competition." Jones will probably report to a rookie camp sometime this summer.

Back home in Venice, Jones' parents, Robert and Evelyn Jones, are just as thrilled, if not more than their son. "I'm just so excited," said Mrs. Jones. "I was listening on the radio all day for reports on the draft, but I hadn't heard anything. Ron heard before we did and called. He was excited, but tried to stay cool. At first he told us he went in the

Tri-City rally comes up short

Four in seventh not quite enough

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Just one more time, that's all that was needed. But for Tri-City a seventh-inning comeback fell just one hit short.

With Tri-City's failure to produce the tying run with men at second and third, last night, Highland ended up with a 6-5 win in the American Legion game.

After spending most of the game scratching for what few hits it got off Highland's Tim Zobrist, Tri-City suddenly came alive in the bottom of the seventh.

Down 6-1 going in, Tri-City put its first to bat on base to lead off the seventh. Bob Stegemeier singled and John Linhart walked.

After a strike-out George Jarvis singled to lead the bases, and brought Mike DeGonia to the plate.

DeGonia worked the count full against Zobrist, then spanked the ball through the left side of the infield to score Stegemeier.

Zobrist then struck out Kevin Sykes, but Tri-City still had the bases loaded when Bob Batey stepped to the plate.

Batey promptly sent a line drive down the first base line that just did get under the right fielder's out-stretched glove.

Batey cleared the bases and stopped at third, sending Zobrist to the bench in favor of Joe Wiedle.

Wiedle walked Rich Cope, and then Cope stole second. But after serving up three balls to Tri-City's Mark Linhart, he ended the game by getting a grounder to the shortstop.

"We didn't find out we could hit the ball until the seventh inning," Tri-City coach Eldon Warfield said. "We made a run but it was just too late."

After falling behind early and calling on practically its entire pitching staff to help stop Highland, Tri-City found itself falling further and further behind.

Starter Randy Cann was the first Tri-City pitcher to feel Highland's sting. In the second, John Kotkamp's single scored Dale DeGonia, who had doubled. Then Kent Smith singled in Pat Jaki, who had walked, and Kotkamp scored when Campbell does it again . . .

EDWARDSVILLE — Collinsville's American Legion baseball team got its season started here Tuesday night. And it looked like "old home week."

There he was, Mark Campbell, on the mound for Collinsville, pitching to Edwardsville. It was almost a rematch of last Friday's IBSA state semifinal game between Edwardsville and Collinsville at Springfield. In that one, Campbell defeated the Tigers 12-7 in a four-hour marathon.

Tuesday, the legion game didn't take quite as long, but the result was the same. Campbell and Collinsville beat Edwardsville 2-1 in District 22 action.

Campbell, who was the most valuable player in the state tournament for the state champ Kahoks, scattered four hits while his teammates were making their two safeties count.

After the state tourney, Campbell said he might not play baseball ever again, since he had signed a scholarship to play basketball at Northeast Missouri State. But there he was.

Dan Scheibel took the loss for Edwardsville. Collinsville's hits were by Todd Miller and Matt Hefflin.

"I like pitching against them (Edwardsville)," said Campbell. "We're better than they are and it feels good to beat them. I just can't quit after the year I've had. I'd like to play at Northeast if I can."

Glen Carbon nips Tri-City

By KEVIN ALLEN

GRANITE CITY — Old rivalries never die, they just change uniforms.

The lettering on the uniform jerseys at Granite City South high school's baseball diamond Tuesday night might have read "Tri-City" and "Glen Carbon" but the names on the rosters looked conspicuously like those that have played this cross-town rivalry game many times before.

And on the field, it went pretty much the way it does whenever the feud fires up. It took eight innings, but Glen Carbon, which draws most of its players from Granite City North, finally pulled off a 6-4 win over Tri-City, which has more South players, in the two teams' American Legion game.

"If Glen Carbon didn't win tonight, game all season they'd probably be happy knowing they beat us," Tri-City coach Eldon Warfield said. "They wanted this. And they probably wanted it even more because of the players we got from them this year."

Warfield was talking about an added twist to the rivalry caused by Tri-City's additions of three players from Granite City last year.

One of those three, Bob Ford, was Tri-City's star pitcher, and the Glen Carbon Former teammates battle; winning run balked home

batters, most of whom were Ford's teammates at North, had ample chance to strike a blow for team loyalty.

Glen Carbon chased Ford from the mound with first and third inning rallies, which produced four of its six runs.

"Maybe we shouldn't have started Ford," Warfield said. "That may have just fired us (Glen Carbon) up just that more."

Inspired or not, Glen Carbon broke out on top with a pair of runs in the first inning. Rick Buer, who walked, stole second, and advanced to third on an infield out, scored on Tom Greco's triple. Greco then scored on Greg Faulkner's single.

Ford breezed through the second, but ran into trouble again in the third when Mike Robertson led off with a triple. Robertson scored when Greco grounded to short.

Larry Burns scored Glen Carbon's second run of the inning. He arrived at second when his pop fly was dropped by Tri-City center fielder Mike DeGonia. He then stole third and came home on a double-steal.

Until the third it looked as

Golf lessons a top feature

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Bill Wickham was having trouble. His last shot off the rubber tee at Lakeview Driving range had sliced off to the right. He was looking at the seven iron held in his hand as if it had betrayed him.

It was time to call in professional advice. "What am I doing wrong?" Wickham asked Bill Sowerwin. The tall, dark-haired Sowerwin came over and watched Wickham slice yet another golf ball wickedly right.

Apparently it was enough for Sowerwin to spot the trouble. "Crouch a little," he said. "Bend your knees like this, and come through with swing."

Wickham listened carefully, then teed up another ball and swung away. The ball shot off the tee, straight and long. "Sometimes," Wickham said, "Bill can take one look and tell just what's the matter. Thanks a lot, Bill."

The scene is repeated countless times every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Saturday at the driving range. That's when Sowerwin and his assistant, Mike Antonopoulos, come to down to Lakeview from Sunset Hills Country Club where they serve as club golf pros.

It's their job to be able to spot golfer's trouble and when to do something to correct it. "We give group lessons here," Sowerwin said. "Right now, we have two groups of ten each every Tuesday and Wednesday, and another group of juniors on Saturday."

"We do two things. We give constructive lessons and we give corrective lessons."

Say, for example, your a beginning golfer. The pros can help you start from scratch to build a proper swing.

Or if you've been in the game for a while Sowerwin and Antonopoulos can help you overcome all those nasty habits that can frustrate even an experienced player.

An as anyone who has ever watched a drive sail into an adjacent fairway can attest, golf can be very frustrating. "The problem most people have is their swing," Sowerwin said. "Most people stand there and try to beat the ball to death."

"We try to work with everyone individually, even though we have groups. That way we can try to eliminate those kinds of things, or even build a swing from the ground up."

The driving range offers the lessons on a weekly basis for four consecutive weeks. The current group of golfers is the first ever at Lakeview, although new sessions will soon be underway.

"I think most everyone has shown signs of improvement," Sowerwin said. "Most of the time it's just little things that need to be improved anyway."

Most of the golfers attending the lessons have some experience, but some, like Wickham, who lives in Glen Carbon are raw beginners.

Mike Gibbs, from Alton, is an intermediate level golfer. Gibbs, who has completed a month of lessons at the range said Sowerwin spotted a hitch in his swing that has since been corrected.

"Practice is the name of this game," Gibbs said. "But even then there are some times when you fall into bad habits that other people may be able to see but you can't. That's what happened to me."

Sowerwin, though, said correcting a golf game may be the most difficult of his tasks. "When you start from scratch, the improvement is really obvious almost from the first swing," he said.

"But sometimes when you're helping someone correct something it may not be so obvious."

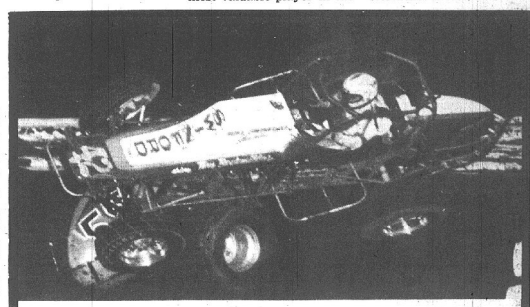

That though may depend on the degree of correction needed.

"This game is all relative," Sowerwin said. "I'm disappointed when I don't shoot par, but for someone less experienced, their goal may be to just break 100."

Either way, a little professional advice can never hurt.

Mark Campbell one of best in IHSa history

By RICK WELLS
For the Press-Record
SPRINGFIELD

Mark Campbell was having his won private little press conference following Collinsville High's 7-3 victory over Bartonville Limestone to win the IHSa Class AA state baseball title last week.

Everyone wanted to know how he managed to pitch three games per a two-day period. Campbell picked up all three of the Kahoks' wins Thursday and Friday at Lamphier Park in Springfield, making him to only pitcher in the tournament's history to win all three games in a two-day span. "My arm felt great," he said following the Limestone victory. "Tonight I felt better than the other games I pitched. It broke a lot better."

Campbell, unanimously named the tournament's

But Collinsville ace might not play in college

most valuable player, never looked sharper in the five innings of work against Limestone. He gave up only three hits and one walk, striking out three and allowing no runs.

He bailed the Kahoks out of trouble against Edwardsville just a few hours earlier, giving up two runs in four innings. He left the Limestone game because of an IHSa regulation that a pitcher can only work nine innings in one day.

"I didn't want to let them down," Campbell explained. He said he didn't feel tired, and he didn't want to sit on the bench and watch the last game of his high school career.

Coach Russ Keene said he wasn't sure if he was going to start Campbell until five minutes before the final game. But then, there was only one hour between games to make the decision.

"We have a lot of confidence in him," Keene said. "He's what everyone calls a winner. And you can't deny that he's a winner." Campbell upped his season record to 15-0 including the three state final wins and has won 22 consecutive games over the last two years. In the first game of the state tournament Campbell defeated Oak Forest, 3-2. He gave up only six hits in that game. For the tournament he pitched 16 innings, gave up 14 hits, struck out 10 and issued only five walks (four against Edwardsville, one against Limestone). He allowed only four runs.

"He doesn't believe anybody can beat him. He's that kind of kid," Keene said. And from the looks of it, no one ever will beat him. Campbell is signed to attend Northeast Missouri State on a basketball scholarship and plans to pitch no more.

DUSTY RETURN. Glen Carbon's Larry Burns dives safely back into first base as Tri-City first baseman Rick Daley applies the tag Tuesday at OCHS South's sports complex. Glen Carbon won in eight innings 6-4.

Good night, bad night for GC legion teams

GRANITE CITY — It was a good night and a bad night for Granite City American Legion baseball fans Monday. It was a good night for Tri-City Post 113, as it ripped Nashville 7-3, but a bad one for Glen Carbon, as it was ripped by Bethalto 11-1.

Bethalto-Glen Carbon
For Glen Carbon it was an example of two many games in too few days with too few pitchers.

"We were saving (Steve) Doty for Tri-City," Mike Robertson tripled then scored on Tom Greco's sacrifice fly. Burton's troubles began in the first when Bethalto scored once. Another single run was added in the third. Then after the seven-run fourth and Burton's departure, Dave Edwards took over pitching chores for Glen Carbon and allowed Bethalto two more runs in the seventh.

A triple by David Chery was the big blow for Bethalto in the inning. It drove in three of the seven runs.

After that things were, for all practical purposes, out and dried. Glen Carbon could manage only a single run, in the sixth, off Bethalto starter Gene Meyer.

Burns' triple drove in both. "Burton was hurting even before the game started," Jovi said. "He was working all day and he really wasn't ready to pitch. But we're low on pitchers so we had to go with him."

Bethalto scored its 11 runs on nine hits. Glen Carbon had one run on three hits and one Bethalto error.

Tri-City-Nashville
Tri-City Post 113's American Legion team downed league-rival Nashville Monday 7-1 behind the strong pitching of Kevin Cripps and the timely hitting of Rich Cope.

Cripps, so far Tri-City's most dependable hurler, turned in a complete-game performance during which he struck out five and allowed only three hits. Shortstop Rich Cope gave Tri-City all the runs it needed in the first when he doubled, driving in Kevin Sikes, who had reached on a single, and Bob Batey, who went to first on an error.

Nashville came back in the second with one run, its only one of the game, when Darren mesh doubled, went to third on an infield out, and scored on Alan Lake's grounder to third.

"Cripps was as steady as ever," Tri-City coach Eldon Warfield said. "And Nashville hits the ball pretty good. We got some runs for him and he did the job."

Tri-City scored a single run in the third when Batey walked, went to second on an infield out by Cope and scored on Bob Ford's grounder to second.

Then in the fifth, Tri-City added three more runs. Batey reached on a fielder's choice, stole second, reached third on a passed ball, and scored on Cope's double. Cope was joined on the bases by Jovi, who walked, and both scored on Bob Stegemeier's single.

Tri-City scored its seven runs on seven hits and one Nashville error.

Nashville scored one run on three hits and two Tri-City errors.

BAC lands Batey, others

Special to the Press-Record
BELLLEVILLE — Belleville Area Junior College soccer coach Mike Moore is optimistic. But then, what coach isn't as he looks ahead to the coming season? This year, however, Moore just may have something.

Moore was talking with reporters in the BAC gym Tuesday. All around him were some of the top area prep athletes who had just signed to play soccer for the Ditchmen. Four of those players were from Granite City North and one was from Granite South. Bob Batey, Mark Jones, Tracy Hickman and Perry Hardwick, former North Stealers, and Jeff Tinsley, from the four-time state champion South Warrior squad have signed.

"Last year I probably had my most talented team ever," Moore said. But the 11-9 record didn't reflect that talent so this year he was after something else. "The intangible things," Moore said, "These kids really have got the attitude, the desire to win."

There are four goalkeepers, Hickman from North, Bob Belobraydic from Collinsville, Steve Clark from O'Fallon and Mark Brawley, a walk-on from Cahokia.

Moore said his top recruit was Batey from North. The 5-10, 170-pound midfielder has a list as honors the size of Illinois. Last year, he scored 14 goals for the Stealers.

"It's a good athlete," said Moore. "He comes from a winning tradition at North. His skills are solid." Jones, a 5-10 155-pound forward from North, will be joining Batey. Jones scored 23 goals, a school record, and had seven assists last season. Hickman, a 5-10 155-pound goalie from North, had a 0.52 goals-against average in 1979 when he posted a 19-31 record.

Other players signed by BAC were Andy Arterburn, a centerback from Belleville West; John Deira, a sweeper back from Cahokia; Mike Conley, a forward from Belleville East; Jim Hayden, a forward from Collinsville; and Mark Massa, a fullback from Collinsville.

The Ditchmen are to begin working out in August. The season starts in September, and should have around 19 games on the schedule according to Moore.

Moore said BAC had trouble scheduling this season. In the past, the Ditchmen played some NCAA junior varsity squads with a few varsity substitutes. But a new NCAA rule says those games now count toward the 22-game varsity limit, and schools are dropping their JV programs.

BAC and Lewis and Clark Community College in Godfrey are once again the two class schools in Illinois, according to Moore. "Every year since we and Lewis and Clark started programs, one of us has won (the state title)."

Batey, one of the top shortstops in the state, will also play baseball at BAC for head coach Dick Swift. "I'm pretty glad I decided to go here," he said. "I'm not real sure yet what I want to major in and junior college will probably help me decide. Plus, I'll be able to play soccer and baseball and maybe get a scholarship somewhere else after two years."

Two of the four-year schools that had shown interest in Batey were NCAA soccer champion SIU-Edwardsville and Old Dominion, a Division II school.

Jones, one of the most feared scorers in the state last year at North, is also glad he selected BAC. "I think we'll have a pretty decent team," he said. "With the guys from Granite and Collinsville, there's a lot of talent."

Tinsley was one of the most improved players for Coach Gene Baker last season at Granite South. He led the state tournament in goals scored as the Warriors won their fourth straight state championship in November. He stands 5-8, weighs 140 pounds and has deceptive speed.

Moore said he was particularly glad to sign the Granite City players. "With the winning tradition the Granite players come from, I'm happy to sign anybody from either South or North. There are a lot of players who sit the bench in Granite who could be stars somewhere else."

South Band awards

Outstanding musicians and performers with the Granite City High School South Band were honored last week by Band Director Joseph Owens.

Presentation of the John Philip Sousa award to Stanley Fornaszewski and Michael Bennett led the honors list.

The award is bestowed yearly on a student or students who are sensitive, exceptional musicians and who show outstanding leadership in the band organization, Owens said.

Fornaszewski has participated in the band for four years and has been percussion section leader during his senior year. He received first place in the Illinois High School Association (IHSA) Solo and Ensemble contest and was district winner in the Louis Bellon contest.

In addition to his school activities, Fornaszewski is leader of the Big Band Machine and is planning to continue a career in music. Bennett also has participated in band for four years and performs in the South Stage Band. He placed first in the IHSA Solo and Ensemble contest for two years.

Bennett has held first chair in the South band saxophone section and first chair in the Granite City Festival Band.

Special band awards were given to students displaying a high degree of musical ability and who have contributed greatly to the band organization, Owens said.

The recipients, all of whom won first place honors in the IHSA Solo and Ensemble contest, are:

Julia Grider, vice president of the South Band Letterman's Club and band librarian, who has held first chair in the flute section this year.

Jiho Chang, who began studying clarinet after entering high school and held first chair in the clarinet section in 1979-80. He also plays alto sax in the South Stage Band.

Michael Beebe has held first chair in the bass clarinet section of the South band. He serves as secretary of the Band Letterman's Club.

The flag award went to Susan Selheimer, captain of the South Flag Squad and president of the Band Letterman's Club.

She plays clarinet and, during the marching season, choreographed many of the squad's marching routines.

Norbert Tate was presented the Drum Major award for exceptional work

May is active month for Emerson School Brownies

Brownie Troop 441 from Emerson School participated in many activities during the month of May. Troop members learned sign language in early May from Laura Froemling, Darlene Schannott and Angela Garagac. Each member learned the alphabet and the Girl Scout Promise.

For Mother's Day, the girls made "helping hands" waste cans to be given to their mothers.

Brownie "B" patches were given to each girl in the troop on May 12. Requirements for the badge include the completion of at least 12 activities per girl during the school year.

Those receiving their first year patch were: Kim Lee, Pam Scott, Nicole Urioste, Linda Barron, Sheri and Terri Henderson, Tammy Spillers, Angela Benhall, Laura Sexton, Noel Landers, Lora Heath, Dina Sampson and Christy Clark. Second year patches went to Alissa Thompson, Tricia Botkin, Kathy Rowane, Karie and Stacie Hewlett, Tina Henderson, Tammi Wickham, Carrie Ros, Ida Manninger, Angel Creek, Cathi Hester, Tracey Morgan, Katherine Lee and Jennifer Hagnauer.

Third year patches were given to Kim Lee and Tanya Albertson. Membership star pins were also given to some of the girls at this ceremony.

Eleven girls participated in a fly-up ceremony from Brownies to the Junior troop. Those entering Junior Troop 359 were Angela Benhall, Kim Lee, Christy Clark, Tanya Albertson, Cathi Hester, Tracey Morgan, Ida Manninger, Tina Henderson, Stacie Hewlett, Laura Sexton and Alissa Thompson.

An end of the year party was held at the school May 30 for the girls and their families. The party marked the last time Troop 441 will meet until the girls attend Day Camp at Camp Torqua in Edwardsville June 16-20. Plans for other summer activities are being considered, it was announced.

Pack 22 Cubs are honored

Members of Cub Pack 22, sponsored by Frohardt School PTA, were presented awards and Webelos were honored during the last meeting of the season. Awards also were presented to adult leaders.

The meeting was opened by Webelos John Hagen III, Jeff Motes, Greg Talley, John Jaros, Dave Mouldon, Jeff Wakeford, Pat Brees, Mike Schuette Jr. and Jeff Robbers, with the presentation of colors and the pledge of allegiance. Cubmaster Jim Colp presented service awards to the adult leaders.

Earning one-year service pins were Den 2 leaders Bonnie Hunter and Eva Abbott, Den 3 leaders Ellie Frasier and Jo Ellen Toth, Webelos leader John Hagen II, and Treasurer Mike Schuette Sr.

Earning two-year service pins were Den 5 leader Pam Winn and Secretary Mary Hagen. Committee Chairman Bernice Schuette was presented with a three-year service pin and Cubmaster Jim Colp received a five-year pin. Webelos presented skits to demonstrate first-aid. The Cubs also set up a display of all their craft items they made during the year.

After the skits, Cubmaster Colp presented Gold Arrow points to Den 5 Cubes Dennis Winn, Todd Smallie, Craig Sykes, Joey Hinnen, Jerry Wheat II, Rich Reader, Dave Mouldon and to Den 2 Cub Eric Kuenkler. Den 2 Cub Mark Hunter received a silver arrow point. Activity badges were presented to the Webelos. Mike Schuette Jr. and Jeff Wakeford received craftsman badges; Pat Brees received his craftsman, sportsman and artist badges; Dave Mouldon received his engineer, sportsman, athlete and artist badges and his Webelos badge. Jeff Motes earned his showman, citizen, scholar, engineer, scientist and craftsman badges.

Greg Talley was presented his showman, citizen, scholar, engineer, scientist, naturalist, geologist and forester activity badges. John Hagen III, was presented the showman, citizen, scholar, engineer, scientist, naturalist, craftsman, geologist and forester activity badges.

A special ceremony was held to present the highest possible award in Cub Scouting - the Arrow of Light. Cubmaster Colp presented the Arrow of Light to Webelos Leader John Hagen II, who then presented the awards to Webelos John Hagen III, Jeff Motes and Greg Talley. The cubmaster and Webelos leader praised the three Webelos for earning the award, which is the only award that a former Cub Scout can wear on his Boy Scout uniform.

Since it was the first time in four years that Cub Pack 22 has presented an Arrow of Light award, the Webelos flag was retired and presented to Webelos Leader John Hagen II. The arrow of light recipients John Hagen III, Jeff Motes and Greg Talley said they owe much of their success to their leader, John Hagen II. After the Arrow of Light ceremony, all of the Cub Scouts formed two columns to represent a bridge for the Webelos to cross over from Cub Scouts into Boy Scouts.

Webelos leader John Hagen II escorted the Webelos through the bridge and presented them to Troop 5, sponsored by Nameoki United Methodist Church, assistant Scoutmasters Charles White, David White and Nick Theologos. The new Boy Scouts are John Hagen III, Jeff Motes, Greg Talley, Pat Brees, John Jaros, Dave Mouldon, Jeff Robbers, Mike Schuette Jr. and Jeff Wakeford. The meeting was closed by all the Cub Scouts giving the

Rabies clinic in GC Saturday

A rabies clinic will be held from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Saturday at the Granite City Humane Shelter, located on Highway 3, about one-quarter of a mile south of the A. O. Smith plant.

Rabies shots will be $5 each and distemper booster shots $7 each. Also mandatory is the purchase of a city dog license, costing $1 for males and $2 for females.

"Failure to inoculate your pet against rabies will result in a substantial impoundment fee," Chiappa stated.

"Grand Howl" in honor of the assistant scoutmasters from Troop 5. Refreshments were served by parents from Den 5, led by Pam Winn.

Emotional, alcohol, drug assistance for attorneys

A program to assist Illinois lawyers and judges with emotional problems or alcohol or other chemical dependencies that affect professional performance has been inaugurated by the Illinois State Bar Association (ISBA) and The Chicago Bar Association (CBA).

Lawyers' Assistance Program, Inc. (LAP), a not-for-profit corporation operating with trained lawyer- and judge-volunteers called "interveners," is being formed to administer the program.

With membership equally divided among and appointed by members of the ISBA and CBA, the corporation also will receive volunteers and other support from the Illinois Judges Association.

Sherman C. Magidson, chairman of the Joint ISBA-CBA Committee on the Impaired Lawyer, said the LAP concept is the result of a two-year committee study of the problems of impaired lawyers, and of the means of combating these problems. Following are the corporation's goals:

1. To educate lawyers and judges in Illinois to the diseases of alcoholism and chemical dependency and related problems, particularly as these diseases and problems affect their professional functions and personal lives.

2. To arrange interventions in the lives of chemically dependent or emotionally impaired lawyers and judges, using all of the resources available and appropriate in each case.

3. To sponsor and encourage such treatment opportunities as are available.

Magidson said the program initially will include 20 teams of volunteers located throughout the state and trained to respond to persons referred to LAP by such potential sources as spouses, law partners, friends, judges or the Illinois Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission.

Each team will include a judge and two lawyers, one of whom ideally will be a recovering alcoholic. When information is received about a particular attorney or judge, the team's first task will be to check discreetly the validity of the report and, if it proves accurate, to arrange a meeting with the individual.

"Persons who play a significant role in the life of the attorney or judge, such as a law partner or spouse or judge, might be invited to share with the individual specific incidents in which the individual's professional conduct was affected by alcohol or drug abuse," Magidson said.

"These people will be briefed beforehand never to criticize," he said. "Their purpose instead will be to report the facts and thereby to help the individual realize he or she has a problem."

LAP intervention teams will be armed with current data on hospital and outpatient treatment programs available in the area and will impress the person with the importance of seeking professional help.

Magidson stressed that the work of LAP will be confidential, whether or not a person accepts the team's suggestions.

"As volunteers with an independent not-for-profit corporation, teams will strictly adhere to federal and state statutes regarding privacy," he said.

"Our jobs will not be to report people, but to confront them with the facts and help them realize that of the possible consequence awaiting them, by no means the worst is admitting the illness and doing something about it. But we cannot force a person to accept help."

Magidson said the LAP program will officially be launched at an orientation and volunteer-recruitment seminar for interested judges and attorneys only, to be held from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday in the Olson Auditorium at Lutheran General Hospital, 1775 Hampshire St., Park Ridge. It is the hospital's renowned alcoholism treatment center that will provide volunteer training and consultative expertise to LAP.

The June 14 orientation seminar will be followed a month later by small group training sessions for the volunteer teams. According to Magidson, the four-hour classes will provide the teams with the information and psychological training needed to carry out LAP interventions.

He said actual intervention visits will begin in mid-July or early August.

"We decided to concentrate initially on the problem of alcohol and other chemicals because, frankly, that is the most typical problem we see as well as the one with which we have the most empirical experience in dealing," Magidson said. "But our hope is to soon expand our work to include other areas of impairment, such as emotional disturbance and senility."

"Our goal is to help the afflicted lawyer and judge and, by so doing, to improve the delivery of legal services to the people of Illinois." Judges and lawyers interested in registering for the seminar and persons wanting more information may call either David Anderson at the Illinois State Bar Association (800-252-8908) or Barbara Levinson at the Chicago Bar Association (312-782-7348).

NURSING SCHOLAR. Imogene M. King, professor of nursing at Loyola University in Chicago, receives the honorary degree of doctor of humane letters in ceremonies at SIUE. She was honored for achievements during a 35-year career in nursing, particularly in her contributions to the underlying philosophy of the profession. She taught nursing for 10 years at St. John's Mercy Hospital after receiving degrees at St. John's Hospital School of Nursing and St. Louis U.

HUMANITIES SCHOLAR HONORED. John F. McDermott of St. Louis received the honorary degree of doctor of humane letters at the 43rd commencement of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. An emeritus professor here and the first research professor of humanities at the university, McDermott was honored for being "the single most productive scholar in the field of Mississippi Valley culture and history."

EDUCATOR HONORED — Olin W. Stratton (left), superintendent of Highland school since 1958, receives a distinguished service award from SIUE Acting President Earl Lazerson. The presentation was one of the highlights of the 43rd commencement of SIUE, held at the university's Outdoor Performing Arts Facility. Stratton, president of the American Association of School Administrators, was recognized for leadership in primary and secondary education.

CENTRALIA LEADERS. J. Faye Wham and John Page Wham of Centralia receive distinguished service awards from SIUE. Mrs. Wham, a board member of the SIUE Foundation and its president from 1971 to 1973, was recognized for her many "firsts" in personal achievement. Her husband, an attorney in Illinois since 1926, was a member of the SIUE Board of Trustees from 1949 to 1965 and was chairman for 12 of those years.

Life quality emphasized at commencement

Graduates of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were challenged Friday night by acting President Earl Lazerson to help improve the quality of life.

Addressing the more than 2,100 members of the class of 1980 at the commencement program, Lazerson said, "When we say we are here to improve the quality of life, we cover a broad spectrum of problems, concerns and aspirations of social, political, economic and cultural significance. But this improvement will occur only if you make it occur."

"Remember that the future is not entirely up to you. You will have to deal with many things that are not subject to your control," he said.

"You will have to learn to live with ambiguity, and accept the necessity for action in the face of irresolution and conflict. Whatever it might be, your diploma is not a free pass to untrammeled success and satisfaction."

"The crucial thing is that you are better than you were in the quality of your lives. You have had a chance to see the fire of your personal promise burn bright—because fulfilling your promise is recognized here as a way of making the lives of others better, as well as enhancing and enriching the quality of the world we will share in the future."

Lazerson told the graduates that the scholarly—or "exploratory"—aspect of their academic experience will increase in importance as they punch their careers.

"The challenges and the knowledge that were conveyed to you here will appreciate as you test yourself in the full crucible of life. Insights you picked up from wrestling with natural laws, from cracking the code of a foreign language, from understanding the meaning of a play or novel that were not immediately apparent—and especially from discovering a past you may have considered long dead and perhaps well forgotten—will assert themselves in the future, most likely at critical moments."

"The creation of SIUE was based on the hope that this region would benefit from a resource of higher education that could provide educated citizens to serve and lead it."

"If you perceive a richer, more challenging, better informed value for your lives at this moment, then our joint efforts have not been in vain. By coming to SIUE, you have engaged yourselves—with some definite success—in the continuing struggle to benefit all our fellow citizens."

Recalling the words of Abraham Lincoln, who said in 1861 it was "due time" for the "weights" to be lifted from "the shoulders of all men," Lazerson challenged the graduates:

"In 1980, that 'due time' of which Lincoln spoke is long past due, making even more urgent your duty to contribute—each of you in terms of your singular, special promise—to realizing the best you can find in yourselves, so that we all may help realize America's promise."

"Thus, the charge with which I leave you is that you think and feel and act so that 'the weights should be lifted from the shoulders of all men, and that all should have an equal chance.'"

Degrees were conferred on 2,160.

The list of candidates included 1,483 for bachelor degrees, 660 for master's degrees, 14 for specialist certificates and three for doctor of education degrees.

At the bachelor level, the School of Business had the most candidates for degrees, with a total of 348. The discipline with the second highest number of candidates was the School of Education with 322.

There were 263 candidates in the School of Fine Arts and Communications, 192 in the School of Science and Technology, 170 in the School of Social Sciences, 112 in the School of Nursing, 50 in the Delinquency Study and Youth Development Center, and 26 in the School of Humanities.

The School of Education had the highest number of candidates at the graduate level, with 244 candidates for the master of science, 14 for educational specialist and three for the doctoral degree.

The School of Business had 207 candidates for the master of business administration degree. The remainder of the graduate degree candidates were scattered throughout other disciplines.

The honorary degree of doctor of humane letters was presented to John F. McDermott, university professor emeritus at SIUE and a scholar on Mississippi Valley culture and history, and Imogene King, nursing educator at Loyola University, well-known for her research achievements in the nursing profession.

Distinguished service awards went to Olin W. Stratton of Highland and to John Page Wham and J. Faye Wham of Centralia for their dedication to education.

Donald T. King, professor of counselor education, was the recipient of the Great Teacher Award, presented by the Alumni Association.

The senior teaching excellence award was presented to Noble R. Thompson, associate professor of earth science, geography and planning. The junior teaching excellence award was presented to Paul R. Tarpey, assistant professor of management systems and sciences.

Commencement exercises for the SIUE School of Dental Medicine are scheduled for later this month.

Students graduating with special honors are indicated as follows:

- * honors — Dean's College student
-  high honors — Presidential Scholar
